Expensive grip

It won't be long before gasoline will be getting even more expensive. Federal Energy Administrator William Simon has announced that wholesale gasoline prices soon will be allowed to rise again, which in turn will mean a price rise at the pumps and make filling your tank even costlier than it already is.

House passes $515 million bill to fund public schools

JEFFERSON CITY, MO. (AP) — The Missouri Senate today gave first-round approval to a bill that would add an additional judge to both the Kansas City and Springfield courts of appeals.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Ike Skelton, D-Lexington, called for a judge at Kansas City. But was amended on the floor by Sen. Nelson Tinnin, D-Hornersville, to add a judge at Springfield.

Sen. Edward Linehan, D-St. Louis, voted against the bill, saying he objected to the procedure for adding the Springfield judge. "This is no way to get an appellate court judge," he said. "We have no way of knowing whether the acts are correct."

On Tuesday, the Missouri House passed a $515.5 million appropriations bill to fund the state's public schools for the 1974-75 fiscal year.

The bill, which was sent to the Senate amounts to an increase of about $7 million over the current 1973-74 fiscal year. The total does not include federal money.

In Senate action, a bill to hike Workmen's Compensation benefits was given first round approval. It would raise basic disability rates from $70 a week to $95. Payments for workers who are partially, but not permanently disabled would go from $65 to $75 a week.

Amendments were tacked onto the bill to keep farm laborers and domestic workers from being covered and employers who hire seven or less employes would not be covered.

First round approval in the House was given to bills that would lay down strict penalties for state income or sales tax evasion.

Fines of up to $10,000 and prison terms from two to five years could be imposed on persons who willfully evaded taxes or filed fraudulent returns. The crime is made a felony, rather than a misdemeanor under the current law.

State Revenue Director James Spradling said the state loses $30 million a year in sales taxes.

The Senate gave first-round approval to a bill increasing basic disability benefits from $70 a week to $95 under the state workmen's compensation law.

The bill would not cover farm laborers, domestic workers or employes with seven or less employes.

In other action, the House gave preliminary approval to bills that would make it a felony rather than a misdemeanor to fail to file sales or income tax returns or fail to pay the taxes.

Another bill given tentative approval would allow the revenue director to require surety bonds from businesses that might be considered poor tax risks, before giving them a license.

The new punishment for tax evasion would be a fine up to $10,000 or two to five years in prison. The maximum penalty is a $1,000 fine.

The House also gave preliminary approval to bills that would:

—Allow sheriffs in 3rd and 4th class counties to patrol all public roads in the counties and authorize purchase of more vehicles and men to do the patrolling.

—Raise the state payment to counties from 15 cents to 35 cents an acre for forest cropland and to raise the local levy of privately owned forest land from $1 to $3 an acre.

—Allow license plates to be transferred to a wife or husband. Sponsors said this would eliminate the necessity of a woman getting a new license plate because her name is changed when she marries.

—Require the operator of a public garage to notify the state revenue director when a car is left in the garage for 15 days.

Crash kills woman, daughter

A Hornersville woman and her 13- year - old daughter were killed and two Perryville residents were injured in three area traffic accidents Tuesday, according to the highway patrol. The two fatalities raised the number of persons killed in Southeast Missouri this year to five, compared with 16 traffic deaths at the same time last year.

Mrs. Patricia Donnell, 36, and her daughter, Wanda Lucille Hall were fatally injured at 5:15 p.m. at the junction of Highway 164 with Routes Y and N three miles north of Hornersville when an eastbound car driven by Mrs. Donnell failed to stop at a stop sign and was struck in the side by a southbound car driven by Ruth Evelyn Christian, 59, of Hornersville.

Another daughter of Mrs. Donnell, Rita Faye Hall, 16, was seriously injured, and another passenger, Glenn Gilbert, 17, of Hornersville Route One, received critical injuries. Both were taken to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett. Gilbert was transferred to Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

The bodies were taken to Russell Funeral Home in Piggott, Ark.

Edward Deimund, 19, of Perryville received minor injuries at 5:55 p.m. when the car in which he was riding, driven by Charles E. Clampitt, 30, of Friedheim, pulled from a gravel road onto Highway 51 six miles south of Perryville into the path of a pickup truck driven south by Ivan L. Myers, 38, of Patton.

Deimund was taken to Perry County Memorial Hospital in Perryville.

A one- car accident at 7:45 p.m. on Route B two miles south of Portageville also resulted in one injury.

The accident occurred when a station wagon driven south by Peggy Sue Lorenz, 16, of Perryville ran off the left side of the road on a curve.

Miss Lornez received minor injuries and was taken to the Perry County hospital.

Furniture store is burglarized

NEW MADRID — Cartner's of New Madrid, a furniture store at 447 Main St., reported to police Tuesday that between $10 and $15 in quarters was stolen sometime during the weekend.

Entry is believed to have been made through a small vent, according to Marshal O. E. Householder.

For the second time within a week, thieves attempted to enter R. C. Smith Jewelry Store on Main Street. Householder said a screen was torn off a window and the glass broken Tuesday night, but the store was not entered. Two youths were reportedly seen running away from the building.

Two juveniles were apprehended at the store last Wednesday when police were notified someone was trying to kick in a back door.

Bond complains of House action on appropriations

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Christopher S. Bond complained today that action by the Missouri House on appropriations bills would lessen the ability of the executive branch to manage state affairs.

He said it may result in his vetoing bills or challenging them in court.

Bond called a news conference to criticize the way a budget bill for the Revenue Department sets out expenditures. He said the money is earmarked for 49 different subunits of the department instead of giving the department a lump sum as in the past.

"This hamstringing of agency directors would eliminate all the benefits of streamlined management which reorganization was supposed to provide," Bond said.

He said if the budget bills reach his desk in this form he would be faced with the alternative of vetoing them or going to court.

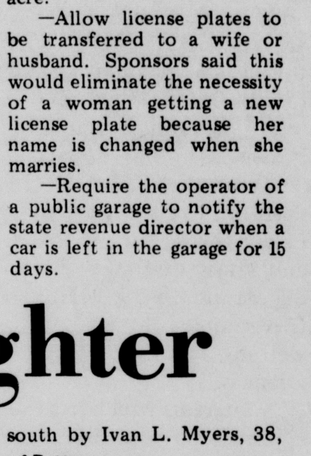
"This is not the kind of things appropriations bills can or should deal with," he said.

But House Speaker Richard Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, disagreed. "Somebody's got to watch the budget," Rabbitt said. "We feel it is our job to see the taxpayers money is spent the proper way."

Rabbitt said closer accounting could be obtained by earmarking how funds should be spent "rather than just giving them a lump sum."

He suggested if the legislature doesn't approve of the information service it should pass a law to prohibit it, rather than using the appropriations route.

Mitchell joins Standard as ad salesman



Ricky Mitchell

Ricky Mitchell, 25, of Dexter Route Two has joined the staff of The Daily Standard as an advertising salesman.

Mitchell is a former employe of National Life and Accident Insurance Co. of Poplar Bluff.

He is a 1967 graduate of Puxico High School.

He and his wife Shannon have two daughters, Cresta, 17 months, and Chanta, seven months.

Comprehensive plan is ready to print

The City Council Tuesday night authorized the submitting of the city's comprehensive plan for publication and approved an ordinance setting April 2 as the date for submitting an annexation proposal to voters requesting authorization for the addition of 600 acres to the city limits.

The city's updated comprehensive plan, completed after several months of work, will go to press Monday. The plan must be updated every five years if the city is to remain eligible for federal funds.

Work on the plan was largely done by the Planning and Zoning Commission and the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission.

"I think it's a pretty good comprehensive plan," Bill Whitlock, acting city manager, told the council. The council agreed and authorized the publication with little discussion.

Only two small technical errors were found and were ordered corrected. In the public grounds section, a ball park was omitted and, in another section, the new junior high school was listed as being under construction.

One error the council decided to keep. Cape Girardeau is listed as one of the smaller communities surrounding Sikeston.

Any persons interested in ordering copies of the comprehensive plan may place an order at the City Administrative Building. The cost will be $1 per copy. Orders must be placed by Monday.

The city will order 300 copies in addition to the 75 it will receive from the BRPC, plus whatever the public orders.

The council routinely approved the ordinance setting the date of the annexation election on the same day as the city's general election.

The council appointed Lewis Blanton to the Scott County University of Missouri Extension Council.

The council tabled a request to transfer the five per cent beer license at Sharecropper Inn, 804 Tanner St. from Mrs. Martha Hopper to Charles Copeland, 643 Greer St.

Fire damages McGee station

Firemen were called at 1 p.m. Tuesday to McGee Service Station, 868 W. Malone Ave., when fire broke out in a trash container and damaged the inside of the building.

The blaze apparently was started by a discarded cigarette or match tossed into a cardboard box filled with trash.

The fire broke out a few minutes after owner Jesse McGee left the station to deliver a truck he had been working on.

Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze, but considerable damage was done to the interior of the building.

At 2:01 p.m. Tuesday, firemen were called to an open field north of Bloemer's Grocery on North Kingshighway, when burning trash set the weeds afire.

The blaze was extinguished without damage.

Butterfly bill moves up

A bill designating the monarch butterfly as the state insect was approved by the House Governmental Organization Committee Monday night, providing that elementary school students in Sikeston can have a voice in government.

In winning approval of their proposal, the students proved they had more clout with the House committee than leaders of honey industry who were lobbying for the honey bee to be named the state insect.

The Missouri Bee Keepers Association and members of the state honey industry fought hard for their insect, but found they were no match for the students of the Sikeston elementary school system.

When the students heard that Rep. James Strong, a Republican from Jefferson City, had presented a resolution to have the honey bee named the state insect, the students of Mrs. Violetta McGee's third grade class at Lee Hunter School launched a petition drive to have the monarch butterfly receive the honors.

The idea caught on and spread to other classes of Lee Hunter School, then throughout the elementary system.

The students submitted

Miner eyes sewer system

Miner residents Tuesday night indicated to the town board in a special planning board meeting that they are ready to take some kind of step toward obtaining a sewer system for the town.

The meeting, held in conjunction with open house at the new courtroom, was called in an effort to "feel out" the citizens' views on procuring a new sewer system.

Milton Sadler, zoning commissioner, who chaired the meeting, persented to the group of about 40 persons, a preliminary engineers' plan that would double the capacity of the present water plant in Miner and would place 100,000 gallons of elevated storage on the east side of Interstate 55, with

Grant awarded for industrial park study

The Economic Development Administration has awarded Sikeston a $2,500 technical assistance grant to determine the feasibility of an industrial park for the city of Sikeston, according to Phil Shelton, director of the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission, which sponsored the grant request.

Before the EDA puts money into a development of this kind, a study must be made to determine if there are adequate facilities to support such an undertaking. The assistance grant will be used to make this study.

Lee Carter and Associates of St. Louis, an industrial developments planning firm, has been selected to make a study of the area, Shelton said this morning by phone from his office in Malden.

The study will reveal such things as acreage needed, zoning and facilities that will be required.

VOTE WISELY!

Recently, syndicated newspaper columnist, Alice Widener, watching the evening news on her television set heard the newscaster announce a "riot at Social Security Administration headquarters in Manhattan as blind, aged and disabled fail to receive checks on time." But, noted Mrs. Widener, the words did not seem to match the picture. The scene on the TV screen revealed policemen and young toughs; none of them were "blind," "aged," or "infirm." Her newswriting curiosity aroused, Mrs. Widner investigated.

She learned that the rioting youth toughs, angry over not getting their "welfare" money on time, were indeed not aged or infirm; they are, in fact, drug addicts. Furthermore, she found, some 14,000 of them are now receiving "Federal" money. And, she also found, the payment to each is $77.50 per month. For the 14,000 in New York City (and who knows how many other cities are doing the same) the annual total is over 13 million dollars.

Comments Mrs. Widener: "I'm glad to do more than my share for the deserving poor. But it just sticks in my throat for me to have to work as hard as I do ... and know that part of my tax money goes to support big strong young ruffians ready to tear down a U. S. Government building if they don't receive 'their' welfare money to support their drug addiction in idleness."

Congress, which has the Constitutional authority to appropriate your money, is directly responsibile for the wasteful expenditure of not only millions of dollars — as in the case cited by Mrs. Widener — but of billions of dollars now going for non-defense, non-public- safety purposes. What Congress giveth, Congress can taketh away; which, translated, means that members of Congress have the power to reverse the present process, and cease the practice of taking money out of your pocket and putting it into the pockets of undeserving others.

The results of several recent elections indicate that many people are today voting against candidates with a Republican label because they are mad at the President. In so doing, however, they have voted FOR candidates who are on the left — i.e., candidates who are for heavier taxation a bigger national debt, more government control and authority, more bureaucracy, more 'welfare" and all the rest that goes with the so-called "liberal" spectrum. It is difficult to believe that that is really what the voters want. It is easier to believe that many have been voting (and many others did not vote at all) on the basis of emotion rather than logic.

The forthcoming 1974 Congressional elections will go a long way toward determining what kind of a country we are going to have. Voters will need to decide whether they wish to have a government more totalitarian, or less totalitarian, than the one we now have; and then vote for the candidates who best fit that desire. In this critical year it will be extremely important for all to vote wisely, and not emotionally.

According to a news report, a resident of Arlington, Tex., recently wrote his congressman to report on an incident that he thought might be of interest.

It seems that one day he and his wife had been making pear relish, and his wife cut her finger while paring pears. He took her to the local hospital, where a doctor closed the cut with five stitches. Six days later, a long distance telephone call came for his wife from an outfit he believes to be the National Electronics Surveillance System of the Federal Food and Drug Administration. The caller wanted to know how his wife had cut her finger. Was a product involved, and was it to blame for the cut? His wife answered no. She had been using a kitchen knife, and the operator of the knife was solely responsible for the cut.

The writer complimented a system that can inform Washington about a cut finger in six days, but he figured that when a cut requiring only five stitches elicits a long distance telephone call from a Washington bureaucrat, he is getting a great deal more government than he wants to pay for.

We agree.

THERE'S NO PEANUT CRUNCH

There may be another use for the lowly peanut that even George Washington Carver never thought of.

According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, fireplace "logs" made of a mixture of peanut hulls and waxes may soon be doing their small bit to ease the energy, uh, crunch.

At the present time, the producers of peanuts and peanut products get rid of vast quantities of the hulls in incinerators.

"That seemed to us to be a terrible waste of a potentially useful resources," says Bill Albrecht, of USDA's Russell Research Center at Athens, Ga. "So by way of experiment, we compared two brands of commercial wood chip longs with our peanut hull logs by burning them in a home fireplace."

The wood chips logs burned about four hours, while the peanut logs burned for three. But the latter, he reports, "seemed to burn more vigorously, with a warmer flame."

Also, the peanut logs were easier to ignite, odorless and produced little smoke. When salts were added to the mixture, the logs burned with pretty colors.

The researchers believe that peanut logs could be marked for about the same cost per unit of warmth as

SELF-SERVING TACTICS

Missourians now preparing their tax returns will be saddened to learn that their state legislature once again is up to its old self- serving tactics.

The Missouri Senate Judiciary Committee has approved a $9.1 million plus pension plan, which includes another hefty benefit increase for legislators.

Action on this bill came only a few days after the Missouri House Fees and Salaries Committee approved a salary increase for legislators from $8,400 to $12,000 a year.

Only last year the Missouri General Assembly slipped through a disguised salary hike when it increased its daily expenses from $10 to $25 a day. This extra compensation is in addition to the legislators' annual salary for their part time job in Jefferson City.

That hike to $25 a day in expenses passed last year will mean legislators spending an average of 104 days a year in Jefferson City will receive a total of $19,400 a year when their compensation is figured for time spent in the Capital City.

When they are not in Jefferson City, legislators have other jobs and interests, which further increase their income. Even when the legislature is in session, legislators arrive late Monday afternoon and go home at noon Thursday.

In addition to these benefits, Missouri legislators also receive mileage allowances from their homes to Jefferson City, about $500 a session in stamps and the opportunity to accept free meals and liquor from lobbyists.

For many years free beer and liquor has been delivered on a regular basis to the offices of legislators at the Capitol. (We wonder how effective a tax paying private business would be if it allowed employes to swig free beer all day while on the job.)

Missouri legislators last year changed the law to permit hiring of as many secretaries as they felt necessary. It was revealed that some legislators have their secretaries back home on the state payroll, but nothing was done about it by Senate President Pro Tem William Cason or House Speaker Richard Rabbitt.

Gov. Christopher Bond promised to investigate the Senate hiring of secretaries who didn't show up for work when the legislature was not in session. But the governor never announced the results of his "investigation."

When it comes to compensation, Missouri legislators already rank near the top among other states. Even before the expense hike to $25 a day last year, the Citizens Conference on State Legislatures reported the Missouri legislature ranked 13th among the 50 states in compensation. When actual time in session is figured, Missouri legislators received about $100 a day from the state even before last year's exepnse hike.

Too many legislators have developed an unfortunate attitude that they are doing the state an enormous favor by acting as a lawmaker. This is especially true among laywers, who get rich because of their legislative connections and their fat retainer fees.

The legislature's cavalier attitude toward the public was demonstrated when it decided to evict full time paying state employes from a state parking garage in order to make room for legislators and their secretaries to park their cars free.

This year's pension bill, introduced and pushed once again by Sen. Maurice Schechter, D-Creve Coeur, would cost Missouri taxpayers a whopping $9.1 million more for the first full year the bill would be in effect.

Under Schechter's bill, legislators could continue to retire after serving only six years in the legislature. The benefit rate for legislators would be increased from $37.50 a month times the number of general sessions served to $45 a month times the number of general sessions served.

As an example, Schechter's bill would permit a legislator now paid $8,400 a year for his part time job in Jefferson City to retire after 24 years of service and receive a state pension of $6,480 a year.

By contrast, a full time state employe earning $8,400 a year with the same number of years of service to the state would draw only $2,520 a year in retirement benefits.

Schechter also wants to eliminate the separate retirement plans for the Highway Patrol and the Highway Department and merge them into the pension system now being raided by legislators.

Who would pay for this $9.1 million monstrosity cooked up by Schechter? Why, the Missouri taxpayers, of course.

Many state employes are being sold a phony bill of goods by greedy legislators who tell them they can have something for nothing. Legislators are still contributing a modest amount to their retirement system. But many thousands of state employes may later find themselves with little or no pensions while greedy legislators receive huge benefits sucked from the State Employes Retirement System.

The taxpayers will stand only so much gouging from their elected state legislators. In the last election, many self-serving legislators were defeated.

To their credit, most Mid-Missouri members of the General Assembly have voted against various legislator benefits increases. The News Tribune publishes how they vote on the issues. But there are still many legislators, especially in St. Louis and Kansas City, who feel their constitutents back home will never be informed of their self-serving tactics.

If a majority of legislators persist in lining their pockets with taxpayer funds, the only practical alternative for Missouri citizens is to organize an initiative petition drive to change the state Constitution in such a way that the people of Missouri will determin throgh the petition and subsequent election how much salary and benefits the Constitution will permit Missouri legislators to receive.

CHAVEZ UNLEASHES 3,000 AGITATORS

Cesar Chavez, would-be czar of America's 3,000,000 farm workers, will pour more than $5.5 million into his nationwide campaign of harassment against workers, consumers and retailers who refuse to honor his "boycott" of non-United Farm Workers union lettuce, table grapes, and domestic wine this year.

Still reeling from a disastrous 1973 — a year in which he lost most of his compulsory union contracts with California growers, stripping him of the nearly 70,000 captive "members" — Chavez has vowed to unleash his supporters in their full fury in coming months.

These are the same supporters who were recently described by nationally syndicated labor columnist Victor Riesel as uncontrollable "crazies."

In an attempt to recapture the money- fat glory days of 1970-1973, when compulsory dues dollars extracted from unwilling workers as a condition of their farm employment filled his coffers to overflowing, Chavez recently reported in a fund-raising message mailed around the country that he expects to have more than 3,000 agitators in 65 cities in the U. S. and Canada by early 1974. Their mission will be to carry on the tactics of disruption and harrassment which forced retailers in 1970 to put so much heat on growers that the growers caved into Chavez' demand for "contracts" which the workers wanted no part of.

The key ingredients of those contracts were a seven-day compulsory union shop; a compulsory union hiring hall, and a blacklisting provision, permitting Chavez to punish dissenters.

Despite continued sympathy from many ill-informed churchmen and from the same "cadillac liberals" who supported him in 1970, Chavez doesn't seem to be generating too much sympathy from consumers — who genuinely seem fed up with his nearly ten years of whining half- truth.

For the many farm workers who were able to go their own free ways after the collapse of Chavez' compulsory union contracts last year, the coming months will be crucially important.

They will find out if Chavez' minions, on their alleged $5 each per day, can deceive the American people into forgetting:

1) That Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers union opposes free employee elections;

2) That Cesar Chavez never has had more than a few thousand voluntary members in his union, and

3), That America's farm workers have demonstrated clearly over the past year that they want no part of the United Farm Workers union revolution.

What they want is the freedom to decide for themselves what union, if any, to pay their hard earned money to ...

SUPERPORTS FOR ENERGY

Mr. James J. Reynolds, president of the American Institute of Merchant Shipping, has pointed out the general agreement among industry and government sources that rising energy demands will mean steadily increasing importation of crude oil. The question is: "How will it be transported here? Today, a mere 700,000 barrels of crude are imported on tankers each day. This figure will skyrocket to over 14 million barrels daily by 1985 ..."

Mr. Reynolds warns that the limited depth of Eastern seaboard U. S. ports would require a minimum fleet of 2,700 relatively small tankers to meet our annual needs --- tankers drawing about 38 feet of water. He called attention to the urgent necessity of constructing off-shore, deep water terminals which can accommodate supertankers - vessels weighing 250,000 deadweight tons and drawing 66 feet of water. If properly utilized, a fleet of 525 such vessels could handle the task. He concluded that, "The ships would off-load at such terminals ... without the need to even enter our frequently crowded waterways and ports ... Congestion in our ports would be lessened and the likelihood of incidents reduced. And of great importance to the ultimate consumer these VLCC's (Very Large Crude Carriers) would transport a ton of crude petroleum to our shores from the Middle East at less t an half the cost than if carried in a conventional 47,000 DWT ship."

Tankers are a vital element of the new merchant shipbuilding program. What many have overlooked is that terminal facilities are equally vital in meeting tomorrow's energy needs.

CRAVING VENGEANCE AT ANY COST

Arab pride, frustration and wishful thinking rather than a realistic assessment of probable consequence have once again set off major military conflict with Israel, the fourth since the small nation thrust itself into existence in 1948.

It is difficult to believe that Egypt and Syria, with limited assistance from Palestinian guerrillas and reportedly some Moroccan troops, actually entertained hopes of crushing Israel and slashing at long last the Gordian knot of the Middle East by their two- front invasion launched on the Jewish holiest of days, Yom Kippur.

Even if their objective was to retake chunks of former Arab territory occupied by Israel since the 1967 Six- Day War, either to strengthen their bargaining hand against Israel or to improve their military position in anticipation of yet a fifth Middle East war inside a generation, simple realism dictates that such a result would be as unacceptable to Israel as outright defeat itself.

It was precisely because of Arab refusal to bargain to recognize Israel as a permanent entity and because of constant harassment and threats from Egypt's Gaza Strip and the Golan Heights bordering Syria, that Israel launched its 1967 blitzkreig and has tenaciously held onto its territorial gains since then.

How could any Arab strategist, knowing anything at all about the Israeli character, expect Israel to commit less than its full military power to retaining that which has given her her only real security in 25 years?

This leaves as a third alternative the objective of simple revenge, of harming Israel as much as possible, of action, even if ultimately useless, rather than more months and years of inaction, of using all those beautiful weapons that have been accumulating since 1967.

The price of this kind of glory comes extremely high.

Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba, who has the reputation of being the most independent- minded leader in the Arab world, told a reporter on the first day of fighting that "the outcome will not be favorable to the Arabs."

If this kind of realism ever begins to permeate the minds of Egyptian and Syrian leaders, we might begin to speak of peaceful solutions to the perpetual Middle East crisis.

Israel is driving home once again and the lesson that she will not yield to force of arms.

Will the Arabs finally begin to learn that lesson? Or like the Palestinians, frustrated in direct conflict with Israel, will they take another tack - like using oil to pressure Israel's supporters in the West?

Meanwhile, the United Nations was proving once again that it is much less than the sum of its parts.

So politically paralyzed is the U. N. that the Security Council, designed to preserve the peace of the world, could not even issue a simple call for a cease-fire.

THE AWFUL TRUTH

The kindergarten teacher dreaded rainy days. It meant thirty-five pairs of galoshes to struggle with. Three times that day she had helped her little charges pull their overshoes on or off.

At day's end, as she gave the final tug, little John remarked,"These aren't mine."

The teacher had had it. But she counted to ten and began pulling the little boy's feet out of the galoshes. He watched in silence, and when it was over, said soberly:

"They're my sister's, but mother says I have to wear them today."

REFRESHING DEPARTURE

Sober second thoughts are being expressed with increasing frequency, relative to the feasibility of revolutionary changes in the U. S. medical and health care system. Nations that have tried shortcuts to medical Utopia, via the path of a government - controlled, tax- supported medical system, have left behind a far from distinguished record. The hope is growing that the United States can avoid the traps of mediocrity and bureaucracy which are the common accessories of government programs in any field.

Illustrative of the current approach of many medical leaders is that of the Assistant Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Merlin K. Duval, M. D. He notes that, "Society has declared that all citizens have the right to quality health care ...", but he stresses that, "... By working together, we can create a system that is uniquely American, one that serves both the patient and the provider with equity." He cautions against making radical and sudden changes that sacrifice the strengths of the present system.

One of the greatest strengths of the U. S. medical system is the vast, voluntary insurance and prepaid financing machinery that has evolved over several decades. The head of the largest prepaid financing organization in the United States has drawn attention to the important role of organizations such as he represents in strengthening the present system and preserving its best features - such as voluntarism, free choice, and the sensitive, personal relationship which sould always exist between doctor and patient. He emphasized most strongly that the nation "... should retain its pluralistic and basically voluntary mechanisms for financing health care."

Thoughts such as these are surfacing more and more among leaders in the health field. They reflect a refreshing departure from the striden cries and exaggerated claims in behalf of a monolithic, government - managed, medical care program. The best answers to U. S. health and medical care problems will be found to bear the stamp "uniquely American."

The abbot of a California monastery announced recently that the brothers of the abbey were planning a fish 'n' chips fry for the public, and would donate all profit to charity. To add a personal touch to the festivities, the abbot said, each visitor would be met at the door by either the Fish Friar or the Chip Monk.

FRIENDS OF THE U.S.A. IN EUROPE

Sometimes it seems as though our country has very few friends left among our European allies. Anti—U.S. propaganda has been so virulent and so long continued in Europe that it seems it must reflect the way people there really feel.

But in fact, in Europe as in the United States, the principal voices heard in the communications media are not at all representative of the people at large.

This has been clearly shown recently in the Netherlands or Holland, where propaganda against the United States during the war in Vietham was especially vicious. After this propaganda reached a climax a year ago and it became evident that substantial numbers of the young people of Holland were beginning to be convinced by it a group of Dutch scholars, writers and statesmen joined together to form a new group called Solidarity in Alliance, Holland and the United States.

This group held its first meeting in the Dutch City of Utrecht October 27, and according to its chairman, C. C. van den Heuvel, it has already received numerous tokens of enthusiastic support from university students and professors. It will publish a monthly information bulletin to correct misunderstandings about U. S. policies, and will study and expose "anti-Americanism" in Holland, particularly in the communications media and in "educational, church and cultural circles."

Similar groups are now planned for Belgium, West Germany and Great Britain, to join in working to bring the truth about the United States and its policies to the people of these European countries whom we have done so much to protect. HLH.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Missing FBI Files

WASHINGTON --Raw FBI files, containing sensitive information about presidents and other prominent people, were sneaked out of the FBI after the death of J. Edgar Hoover.

The missing files, according to FBI sources, included reports on the sex exploits of the late President John F. Kennedy, the wheeling -dealing of the late President Lyndon Johnson and the flirtations of the late Eleanor Roosevelt.

The late FBI Chief kept the files in his personal custody, because he didn't want subordinates reading them and gossiping about the contents. Nevertheless, our sources have seen the files which, they say, were removed by Hoover's faithful factotum, Clyde Tolson.

Our sources stress that the files contain titillating but unverified gossip about famous people. One report, for example, claims that in late 1941 John F. Kennedy romanced a woman suspected of German espionage. His exploits with the lady occurred in Charleston, S.C., where he was working on a project for the Navy to protect defense factories against bonbing.

Our sources saw nothing derogatory in the files about Lyndon Johnson. But it is understood tapes and memos once existed concerning Johnson's backdoor activities. Some of this embarrassing material, we reported in an earlier column, was removed from the files and sent to him at the White House.

While Eleanor Roosevelt was the First Lady, some of her private conversations were monitored. These contained suggestions that she had carried on dignified flirtations with a former New York state trooper and later an Army colonel.

One FBI memo, seen by our sources, reported that President Roosevelt had learned about the colonel and had blurted angrily he should be shot.

In 1937, the FBI conducted a field investigation of Richard NIxon after he had applied to become an FBI agent. The report on Nixon wound up in Hoover's safe, although our sources say it was wholly favorable.

It included a statement, for example, from Dean H. Claude Horack declaring "Richard Nixon is one of the finest young men, both in character and ability, that I have ever had the opportunity of having in my classes. He is a superior student, alert, aggressive, a fine speaker and one who can do an exceptionally good piece of research when called upon to do so."

The removal of these files, according to statements the FBI has made in court, would be a violation of law.

FOOTNOTE: Our sources say that Hoover's trusted secretary, Helen Gandy, handled the sensitive files for him. When we asked her about them, she stated firmly: "All official files were left there." Beyond that, she had no comment. We couldn't reach Tolson whose friends said he is in too poor health to respond to questions.

SOVIET LOBBY: A 30 -member Russian trade delegation will visit Washington this week to lobby for special tariff treatment. On February 27, for example, the Soviets will breakfast with the members of the powerful Senate Finance Committee.

Capitol Hill sources told us the breakfast session was encouraged personally by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. The State Department denied this, but finance chairman Russell Long's office admitted "the suggestion came to us from downtown."

President Nixon is pushing strongly for special trade relations with the Soviet Union despite widespread congressioanl opposition and the expulsion of auther Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn.

The President's purpose is to promote the Soviet -American detente. But behind the warm handshaking, as sometimes happens, is the cold cash of GOP contributors who stand to benefit from the new policy.

American business leaders, who hope to profit from the trade between the two superpowers, contributed heavily to the Nixon campaign. Among them are Pepsico's Donald Kendall who donated more than $24,000 to the Nixon campaign chest, and Occidental Oil's Armand Hammer, who contributed $46,000 in cash.

TRAFFIC SAFETY: While 55,000 Americans are dying every year in automobile accidents, the federal agency that looks after traffic safety is disregaring deadlines for drawing up safety regulations.

Ralph Nader, in a private letter to Administrator James B. Gregory of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, complained that it took a court order last year to force the agency to issue used -car and tire -quality inspection standards that should have come out in 1968 -69.

A spokesman for Gregory told us that the agency lacks the funds and data to meet its deadlines. Nevertheless, it has oftern refused to ask for the full amount of money authorized by Congress for its work.

What's the law?

The case of the unhappy hooker

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Whatever else she was, Hester was no grammarian. For example, whenever she approached a man on the street, she ended every sentence with a proposition.

For 25 bucks, she offered her favors. When she inadvertently offered them to a policeman, however, she was arrested on charges of violating a statute that made it a crime for a female to offer to have nonmarital sex for a thing of value, namely, money.

"The statute is unconstitutional, "insisted unhappyHester in court "It deprives me of equal protection of the law. It prohibits us girls from engaging in nonmarital sex, but not men."

"We don't discriminate," responded the indignant district attorney. "We pick up anybody who does it. As for the statute, there's nothing unconstitutional about it. Things being what they are, it's only reasonable to specify women in the statute."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you find hooker Hester guilty of violating a valid statute?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that it is permissible to distinguish between the sexes in a statute when there is a legitimate reason for doing so. And, noted the judge, historically, there has been an inherent and substantial basis for directing anit-prostitution laws against females. Since Hester failed to show the unreasonableness of the statute, concluded the judge, or that it wasn't equally enforced against men, the statute was valid. (Based upon a 1973 Wisconsin Supreme Court Decision)

A belief that's basically for the birds is that an albatross hovering above a ship would bring on bad weather!

In 1922, Germany became the first nation to legally recognize Soviet Russia when it signed the Treaty of Rapallo, which established diplomatic and economic relations and cancelled debts and war reparations. Also, Germany helped to organize the Red Army in exchange for the use of secret areas in Russia to design and test tanks and aircraft forbidden Germany by the Treaty of Versailles, The World Almanac recalls.

Entertainment was provided by Bill Coomer, a magician from Cape Girardeau.

A special appreciation award was presented to Bob Browning, a former cubmaster who is moving to Dallas, Tex. Mrs. Linda Browning accepted the award for her husband, who is already in Dallas.

Hedrick earns masters degree

COLUMBIA-- Tom Hedrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hedrick of 310 Kramer Drive, Sikeston, recently graduated from University of Missouri- Columbia with a master of science degree in civil engineering. He was funded throughout his graduate work for research on collapse containment in concrete panel buildings.

Hedrick has accepted employment in the Denver design office of Rocky Mountain Prestress, a Mid-America conglomerate. The firm is a manufacturer and erector of pre- cast pre-stressed concrete for buildings, bridges, pipelines and other related heavy concrete construction.

Ann Landers

Wife leaves light shining, hopes for beautiful ending

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think of Encounter Groups? Are they real or phony? --Just Asking.

Dear Just: Some are real but most are phony. Before you consider joining check the sponsorship. For example, if the group is sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. you know it's probably O. K.

Before signing up and handing over anv money, ask if you can drop in to observe a session. If they say, "No spectators" -- for get it.

Make certain you have the right before joining, to "sit our" any part of the program if you choose not to participate.

If, after you join, you feel you've made a mistake and wish you hadn't, LEAVE. Better to lose only your money than your peace of mind and self-respect.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been a faithful reader for many vears and have seen myself in your column time and time again. Today you printed a letter from "Your Friend in Marshfield, Wis." -- an expression of gratitude for the advice you gave to another wife, years before. She saw herself in that letter, took the advice, and it changed her life.

Her husband, too, had a wandering eye. Your counsel was, "Forgive and forget. If there's a light in the window he'll come back. And don't be stubborn, take him. You won't regret it."

That column made my day. Although my husband is living with another woman, you've given me the courage to say, "I will take him back whenever he is ready to come."

A light is now shining in my window and I hope I, too, will be able to write a letter with a beautiful ending. --Lonely And Praying.

Dear Lonely: I'll pray, too, and I promise, dear if you write that letter, I'll print it

Dear Ann Landers: My brother's daughter was married recently. He and his wife gave a large buffet reception honoring the bride and groom. My husband and I and our three children chose to stay home. We did not attend either the wedding or the buffet. Now the whole family is mad at us.

My mother says we should have notified them that we would not attend. I say since it was a buffet and not a sit-down dinner, it wasn't necessary. Mother says a wedding gift was in order, but I've been told that if you don't attend the wedding you don't owe a present. (I did give my niece a shower gift)

The whole family says we are wrong. I say an invitation does NOT obligate the recipient. Please reply in the paper so the relatives can see it. --- No Social Blunderer

Dear Blunderer: Here's my reply, but when you see it you'll wish you hadn't written to me.

An invitation does NOT obligate the recipient to attend OR buv a gift, but it certainly carries the obligation of a response, whether it's a sit-down dinner or a picnic in a park.

The fact that you and your family would choose to stay at home rather than attend the wedding of your niece sends out some extremely negative vibes. I sense enormous hostility between your family and the family of the bride.

An apology would only be a beginning at patching this up. You've given them a real clop in the chops and mere words don't change things.

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers's booklet, "Booze and You -- For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill.60654.

Carolyn R. Fluegge

CHARLESTON — Mr. and Mrs. Marvin E. Fluegge announce the engagement of their daughter Carolyn R. to Richard H. Lohrmann, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Herold G. Lohrmann of Sikeston.

Miss Fluegge is a senior at Charleston High School.

Lohrmann, a 1970 graduate of Sikeston High School, is a second year student at Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau, majoring in industrial technology, and is in the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program at the university. He plans a career in the Air Force.

A July 7 wedding is planned.

Miss Clayton engaged

Mrs. Charlie Clayton, 102 Reuben St., announces the engagement and forthcoming marriage of her daughter Phyllis Ann to Steve Clark Matlison, son of Mrs. Clark Matlison, Route Two.

Miss Clayton and Matlison are both employed by Big K.

A March 30 wedding is planned.

Glass cutting program presented

RISCO--- Mrs. Don Landers presented a program on bottle and glass cutting to the Risco Rural Independent Club at a Feb. 14 meeting in the home of Mrs. Verly McCord.

After a covered dish luncheon, the group discussed the annual club movie and dinner night. Mrs. Tommy Pearson, vice president, presided.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Royce Fortner and children, Mrs. P. C. Crouthers, Mrs. Charles Kirksey and Jenifer, Mrs. Floyd Smelser, Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. G. H. Coffer and Mrs. Gene Lancaster a visitor.

12 young women honored

Twelve area young women were awarded good citizenship certificates and pins by the King's Highway Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution Feb. 23 at the annual George Washington birthday tea at Ramada Inn.

The girls were selected by their schools as the outstanding citizens in their senior classes.

Klugh Cowan, Richland High School at Essex; Teresa Schuchart, Sikeston High School; Teresa Lancaster, Scott County Central High School; Claudette Seyer, Oran High School; Ruth Ann Westrich, Kelly High School at Benton; and Deborah Kemp, East Prairie High School.

Each girl was accompanied by her mother.

The chapter's executive board served as hostesses, and Miss Margaret Harris, chapter historian, presented the awards, assisted by Mrs. William Huff.

A display was arranged, consisting of literature and photographs illustrating the topic of the program, "What the Daughters Do", which was presented by Mrs. Helen Loud Jones. A short history of the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution and an outline of the varied activities and goals of the organization were reported by Mrs. Jones.

The National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution was organized Oct. 11, 1890, and was incorporated by an act of the United States Congress in 1896. The national headquarters buildings in Washington D.C., cover an entire city block.

Membership as of Feb. 1, 1973, was 196,681 in 2,968 chapters in the 50 states, District Columbia and overseas units in England, France and Mexico.

The society has three objectives: historic preservation, promotion of education and patriotic endeavor.

The annual tea was served by Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Joseph L. Baker, both past chapter regents.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Marcus J. Seyer and Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Wilhite.

Miss Mary Ann Seyer was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza over angel mist taffeta and Venise lace motifs and a chapel train.

Her chapel- length veil was held with a Camelot cap, and she carried a cascade of orchids with carnations and pompons.

Maid of honor was Miss Linda Seyer, sister of the bride. Miss Debra Gouge of St. Louis, cousin of the bride, and Miss Faye Wilhite of Cape Girardeau, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore lavender velvet gowns with white lace on the bodices. Each carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and baby's breath.

Harold Crowden was best man and Ronald Wilhite and Steven Seyer brothers of the couple, were groomsmen. Ushers were Michael Compas and Michael Griffin.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Oran. Miss Berta Wilhite, sister of the bridegroom, was at the guestbook.

Mrs. Wilhite is employed by Thorngate, Ltc., while Wilhite works for S and W Cabinet Shop. After a wedding trip through the southern states, the newlyweds are living in Chaffee.

10 pledges become members

New pledges are Ruth McCollum; Melba Wiley; Marianna Heeb; Mildred Graviett; Shirley Crites; Myra Myers, a transferee from Beta Sigma Phi in Anderson, Ind., Irene Smith; Sharon Lathum; Dorothy Sanderson, Polly Hanks and Forothy Pennington.

Dee Comer, vice president, was in charge of the ceremony. Myrtle Nunnelee, president, read the degrees, assisted by chapter director Jessie Taylor and social chairman Nadine Collins. Mrs. Comer and Faye Harper were in charge of the pin presentation.

Every year the Earth is dusted by four million pounds of meteorites, mostly sand-size. Theoretically, they could bury the world an inch deep—in 5,000 years.

Afraid You're Going Deaf?

Chicago, Ill.- A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

This is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so write for yours now. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 9375, Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 W. Victoria St., Chicago, Ill., 60646.

Obesity mysteries studied

Two areas of research are among the newest therories that hope to solve the mysteries of obesity-- of why some people are overweight. One area concerns the development of fat cells in the body; the other involves psychological influences that may cause overweight.

Let's take fat cells first: Some of the vital development of the fetus can only take place in the last few months before birth. Development of the brain, for example, could be limited in the fetus if the mother -to -be does not enjoy adequate nutrition. Certain nutrition inadequacies cannot be corrected after the baby is born.

This is why pediatricians now recommend that pregnant women gain more during pregnancy then they were recommending a few years ago. It became apparent that too many babies were being born underweight and with other problems stemming from maternal malnutrition. At the same time, physicians do not want pregnant women to gain too much, for both their own sake and for fear the fetus will develop to many fat cells. Similarly, pediatricians watch the weight gain and diet of babies, knowing that if they are overfed they will develop too many fat cells.

Too many fat cells in his body could be a lifelong problem. Once developed, you never have less. The problem thereafter is cell size --to keep the fat cells you have from becoming to big.

In early life - and the diet is influential -the infant first develops numbers of cells only. Then, in a second stage, he increases both numbers and size of cells together. Finally, size only is increased. So, in pediatrics, the aim now is to not develop too many fat cells in early life and then keep them a reasonable size.

Answers really aren't available yet. But people who constantly must fight weight may have more fat cells than is desirable. When they reduce they merely shrink the average size of their fat cells.

It is theorized that the reason people usually regain weight may be that their fat cells literally are starving on a reducing regimen and screaming for more nourishment to maintain a larger size --- the result of a percedent set in early life.

This might account, especially, for people who regain weight after crash dieting.

The psychological clues regarding overweight include a theory that overweight people are more responsive to their environment, that is, to outside influences.

For example, in research reported by Dr. Judith Rodin of Yale University's Department of Psychology in New Haven, Conn., overweight and average -weight persons have been studied doing work such as proofreading.

When they were in a quiet room, undistracted, the rate at which each person accomplished his task was measured. But when a tape of background music was played, efficiency dropped. especially among the overweight persons.

The overweight person, in other words, is more distracted by the sound. He responds more to outside stimuli. This, according to the theory, explains his positive response to good smells, appearance of food, and other people eating.

It is, for him, irresistable. He eats too much and too often. He is overweight. When researchers learn more about all this , prevention may be possible.

Fathers receive prizes

Prizes were awarded to the winning fathers in several categories of competition as father's night was observed at the February meeting of the Southwest Elementary School Parent- Teacher Association.

A committee, selected to nominate a slate of officers at the March meeting, included Mrs. Wade Paris, Mrs. Joe Nunnelee, Mrs. John Scarbrough and Jack Cothern.

Members voted to use funds left in the treasury after payment of bills to purchase three artificial Christmas trees lights and a cassette tape player.

Mrs. Ken Scherer's class took first place in number of parents attending, with fathers counting double. Mrs. Charles McGinty's class was second.

The PTA membership drive was won by Mrs. Arlen Maevers' class.

Lilbourn girl elected to honorary

LILBOURN-- Brenda Lancaster, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Lancaster of Lilbourn, has been elected to the Society of Outstanding American High School Students.

The society is a high school honorary organization that recognizes leading students.

Miss Lancaster, a junior at Lilbourn High School, was chosen by the society after nomination by her school because of her academic accomplishments and leadership in extra- curricular activities. She will be listed in the society's annual volume.

Dakar, capital of Senegal, is the African city situated closest to the American continent.

Hosing down grass fire

Dennis Overbey hoses down a stubborn grass fire in a vacant field north of Bloemer's Grocery on North Kingshighway. The fire broke out about 2 p.m. Tuesday when burning rash blew out of a trash barrel into the field. Firemen had difficulty putting out the blaze as it spread under a heavy layer of dead weeds.

Police car and insurance bids accepted in Malden

MALDEN — The City Council Monday night voted to accept a low bid of $2,985.15 for a new police car from Mustain Motors.

Dennis Chevrolet submitted at bid of $3,100, and a bid of $3,209 was offered from Rowe Ford.

The council also accepted a low bid of $6,948 from John Davis Insurance Agency for general liability and compensation insurance coverage for the city. A bid of $7,282 was submitted by Floyd Hampton Insurance Agency.

A discussion by the council indicated that present plans for the new community building may have to be altered slightly to maintain cost. Construction on the new building is expected to begin June 1.

The deadline for filing to enter the race for city councilman has been set for 5 p.m. March 15. Names of clerks and judges for the April 2 general election were submitted and will be forwarded to the county clerk for approval.

Dick Beall Jr. chairman of the ambulance committee, submitted a check for $400 toward the purchase price of the new vehicle, making a total of $800 received in February.

The council voted to dismiss the humane officer and appointed Doc Lovelace to replace him.

John P.Ieri resigned from the recreational park committee and J. W. Wilcox was appointed to the position

An ordinance was passed allowing the placing of only two wreaths or containers of flowers on graves in the city cemetery except on legal holidays. The city will charge $50 for grave openings on weekdays and $75 on weekends and holidays.

The council voted to grant $675 to the fire department for needed equipment.

Firemen called to Howard home

NEW MADRID-- Firemen were called at 9:20 p.m. Tuesday to the home of Mary Howard at 210 Line St. where a fire of undetermined origin caused extensive damage to the kitchen and living room areas.

Firemen were at the scene about an hour and a half.

12,000 miners off job as protest to gas shortage grows

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More than 12,000 miners were reported off the job today in a spreading walkout to protest a drastic shortage of gasoline in southern West Virginia.

The West Virginia Coal Association said that the number of miners not working in the state had increased from 9,000 Tuesday to 12,000 today. It said the more than 30 mines that were closed produced about 140,000 tons a day. Most of the mines produce mettalurgical coal, a high-grade fuel used by steel mills.

The miners say gas shortage is so severe that they can't obtain enough fuel to get to work.

Pickets began appearing at some mines in Logan County Tuesday and by this morning at least 16 of the county's mines were closed.

A spokesman for the Kanawha Coal Operators Association in Charleston, W.Va., said the shutdown had not spread into the association's mines, but companies feared dwindling gasoline supplies might produce high absenteeism. The association includes about 128 mines which employ 3,700 men.

"We have just reached the point of absurdity in the energy crisis when the producers of one fuel — coal — can't get to work because of inadequate supplies of another fuel — gas," said United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller.

The gasoline shortage caused coal mines in southwestern portions of Virginia to begin closing Tuesday and touched off strike threats in eastern Kentucky's coalfields.

In Virginia, UMW officials said as many as 40 per cent of the area's coal miners were off the job Tuesday.

Rep. Carl Perkins, D-Ky., urged the White House to supply his area with more fuel and warned that coal production was declining because miners could not get to work.

Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. accused Federal Energy Office chief William E. Simon on Tuesday of unwarranted delays in supplying gasoline to the area.

Meanwhile, there were these other energy developments:

—Rhode Island will initiate a voluntary odd-even system of gasoline rationing on Friday.

Six states have mandatory rationing plans in effect; eight have voluntary plans.

—New Hampshire officials said the state's emergency allocation of 2.55 million gallons of gasoline has already been exhausted.

—And in Dover Township, N.J., some 100 Ocean County gasoline dealers have scheduled a flag-burning on Thursday to mark the start of what they say will be defiance of New Jersey's mandatory odd-even rationing plan.

Harvey Ashley, a leader of the dissidents, says the flags to be burned will be the red, yellow and green flags that operators are supposed to display to show if no gas, limited gas or unlimited gas sales are available.

He said starting on Thursday the dissidents will serve only regular customers, on any day of the week, regardless of license-plate number and regardless of how much gas the motorist has in his tank.

—Six California counties, involving about half of the state's drivers, will start mandatory, state-supported odd-even systems on Friday.

SeMo U. enrollment up

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Spring semester enrollment at Southeast Missouri State University is 7,193, an increase of 143 over the spring term of a year ago, Registrar Alton Bray reported Tuesday.

The headcount figure includes 6,116 undergraduates and 1,077 graduate students. Graduate enrollment is up 229 over the comparable time a year ago while undergraduate enrollment is off 86 for the same period.

The total enrillment is also down from the all- time high of 7,669 last semester, but a decline of this sort for the second semester of the academic year is considered normal, according to Bray.

This semester's enrollment figures show 6,489 students enrolled in courses on the campus and 704 taking classes at various off- campus locations in the university's service area.

The number of men and women at the university is almost equal with 3,542 men and 3,651 women enrolled. However, the single students -- 5,267 of them -- far outnumber the 1,926 married students.

5 accident patients treated

Five persons were treated Tuesday in the emergency room at Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Roger Chism, 18, Kimmswick, injured head and fractured right arm in car accident; Nolan Fitzgerald, 18, Godfrey, Ill., abdominal and back injuries and scalp cut in car accident; Gary Shepherd, 19, St. Louis, brusied right knee in car accident; William Reno, 19, Kimmswick, cut scalp, scratched left shoulder in car accident; and Frances Barbre, 17, New Madrid, cut head and left arm when she went through piece of plate glass at school.

Officers attend seminar

Police Chief Leon Culp said today five officers attended the Police- Juvenile Procedures Seminar, Tuesday in Cape Girardeau.

The seminar was sponsored by the Missouri Law Enforcement Assistance Council and was conducted by Normand Gomolak, police-juvenile service officer of the MLEAC police- juvenile services subcommittee.

Purpose of the seminar was to make police officers and juvenile court personnel more aware of the needs of juveniles and their problems.

Officers attending from Sikeston were Capt. Lawrence Woodward, Sgt. Charles Sherrard, Sgt. Hiram Gardner, Sgt. Anderson Walker Jr. and Sgt. Richard Couch.

Girl Scout leader training session set

MALDEN--- A leader training session will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Presbyterian Church to prepare for the Cotton Boll Council Girl Scout Roundup.

The training session will be directed by Doris Brown and Ilena Aslin of Sikeston.

The roundup, which will be held at Sweetwater Camp near Malden, will have as its theme "Our Bicentennial", and will involve about 1,500 Cotton Boll Countil Girl Scouts during the first weekend in May.

This is the season when the swallows come back to Capistrano, the buzzards to Hinkley, O., and the tourists from the Bahamas.

Marriages dissolved

NEW MADRID — Dissolution of four marriages was approved and a $1,573 judgment was awarded Tuesday in Circuit Court by Judge William L. Ragland.

The marriage of Jacqueline L. Green and Charles J. Green of Sikeston was dissolved. Mrs. Green received custody of two children and $30 per week per child for their support. Green was granted visitation rights.

Barbara J. Copeland of Point Pleasant was granted custody of five children when her marriage to Kelley DeWayne Copeland was dissolved.

The marriage of Martha Fern Rhodes and H. G. Rhodes of Lilbourn was dissolved. Mrs. Rhodes was granted custody of two children and $100 per month for each child for support. She was also awarded $500 per month for her support and maintenance until the youngest child reaches 18 years of age, at which time her support payments shall be reduced to $350 per month.

The marriage of Theresa Anne Harris and Hubert Monroe Harris Jr. of New Madrid was dissolved, and Mrs. Harris was granted custody of one child, $100 per month for child support and $100 per month alimony.

Joseph Harris Co. was awarded $1,573.03 judgment against Clement Cravens.

Truck owners to get refunds

JEFFERSON CITY— Cash refunds for overpayments on licenses will be made by the Missouri Department of Revenue to about 2,000 owners of 6,000 and 12,000 pound trucks, Russ Sloan, director of the Division of Motor Vehicle and Licensing, said today.

The refunds, ranging from $10 to $20 will be sent to truck owners who applied by mail to Jefferson City and who received shorter registrations than ordered.

The revenue department estimates that it will take four to six weeks to process all the refund checks.

"Refunds are due because the vehicle owners were issued licenses for a shorter period than ordered. The issurance of licenses for a shorter period was necessitated by an overwhelming demand for the longer month plate exhausting the stock and creating the need to substitute the shorter month plate," Sloan said.

"One- year licenses eventually will be issued for 6,000 and 12,000 pound trucks when the required amount of time has elapsed for the same staggered registration system already used for private automobiles to take effect," Sloan said.

Today in U.S. history

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 27, the 58th day of 1974. There are 307 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1900, the British defeated the Boers in the battle of Paardeberg in Africa. The outcome was the creation of the Union of South Africa.

In 1594, Henry IV was crowned king of France at Chartres.

In 1807, the American poet, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, was born in Portland, Maine.

In 1889, a railroad was opened in Burma from Rangoon to Mandalay.

In 1933, the German parliament building, the Reichstag in Berlin, was burned.

In 1939, the U.S. Supreme Court outlawed sit-down strikes.

Allocation deficiencies acknowledged by FEO

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Federal Energy Office today acknowledged serious deficiencies in its crude oil allocation program and announced several major changes intended to increase oil imports into the United States.

Deputy FEO Administrator John Sawhill told members of three Senate committees the present program has produced lower incentives for importers and refiners which led in part to a massive, 280,000- gallon shortage of gasoline on the United States' East Coast.

William N. Walker, the FEO's general counsel, outlined three major revisions of the crude allocation program.

—"An immediate stimulus to crude oil imports by amending the current program to allow additional quantities of crude, over and above the amounts estimated to be available this quarter to be imported without being allocated away to another refiner."

—Preferential allocation to small refiners with the capacity of less than 75,000 barrels a day. They would receive allocations to raise supplies to 1972 levels subject to reductions across the board only when the nation's total supplies fall below those levels.

—Creation of a so-called "neutral zone" for independent refiners producing between 75,000 and 175,000 barrels per day.

"They would not be required to allocate crude and they would be eligible to receive allocated crude only on the basis of increased crude oil acquisitions from outside the allocation process," Walker said.

—Establishing a "fixed allocation obligation" for all refiners with over a 175,000 barrel per day capacity.

Sawhill told a joint session of the Senate's Commerce, Interior and Government Operations committees that the present program has produced serious problems which include major oil companies being forced to allocate certain oil to other major firms, their direct competition.

Walker said he believes the FEO's new actions "may well be subject to serious legal challenge."

Because of that, he said FEO will ask Congress to amend the existing law and to do so promptly.

Meanwhile, the House was moving toward a showdown on the emergency energy bill which President Nixon already has said he plans to veto.

The measure is slated to be brought up on the floor today under a parliamentary rule leaving it open to a procedural challenge from any member. House leaders said Tuesday. But before debate on the bill begins, Democrats will attempt to amend the rule so that such points of order cannot be raised, the leaders said.

The maneuvering is expected to settle the legislative fate of the bill, which includes a provision for an oil price rollback.

Unless the parliamentary rule is amended, an oil- state representative almost certainly will object to the price rollback provision on the ground that it was inserted in the bill by a Senate- House conference and never has been voted upon by the full House.

Most observers agree that Speaker Carl Albert would be forced to sustain such an objection and the bill would be effectively killed.

The Senate- passed measure also would provide the President authority to order gasoline rationing and other mandatory fuel saving measures, but Nixon said at his televised press conference Monday night that he would veto the measure "if it reaches my desk in its present form."

Nixon said the bill's rollback provision, while "immediately popular," would lead to further shortages "which would require, without question, rationing all over the country."

Nixon also said at his press conference that the energy crisis has passed, although a "serious problem" still remains. That comment drew a rebuke Tuesday from Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield who said, "The shortage remains, and so does the crisis."

the petitions to Rep. C. F. Cline, a Democrat from Sikeston. Cline said he and a co- sponsor, Rep Fred Copeland, a New Madrid Democrat introduced the bill after receiving the petition and an avalanche of letters from the students.

Cline said today he doesn't know if there is enough time to get the bill through the House and to the Senate during this session, which ends April 30.

He said the bill is at the bottom of a calendar of 300 bills.

"Whether or not this bill ever passes the House is not that important," Cline said. "What is important is that children have become involved in the legislative process. It has been educational for them and, I am sure, more clearly shows them how state government works than a textbook explanation might."

Cline presented the students at Lee Hunter Elementary School a copy of a resolution Friday, which had been passed by the House of Representatives commending them for their interest in state government.

Farmer should tell distributor of needs

NEW MADRID— "The essential thing a farmer must do to help assure himself adequate fuel for agricultural production is tell his distributor how much he needs. Unless a local distributor or dealer knows what his farm customers require," said Larry Blunt, executive director of the New Madrid County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, "that distributor can not take the necessary steps to get enough fuel for them."

Informing the distributor becomes even more important, if a farmer intends to increase his acreage considerably, or if he wants to expand dairy, poultry, or other farm operations. Local dealers will need this information to request additional fuel from their suppliers.

Blunt said, "agricultural producers who are all to receive priority allocations will be required to certify to an ongoing fuel conservation program on their operations. USDA, in cooperation with the Federal Energy Office and the Environmental Protection Agency, has developed a conservation leaflet. This leaflet, scheduled to be available in early March, includes an energy management certification that there is an ongoing conservation program and that priority fuel will be used for 'Agricultural Production'."

large connecting water mains. The plan also would provide a complete sanitary sewer collection and disposal system.

Sadler said the plan would be expensive, costing $1,084,000. With the present approximate 50 per cent matching grant, the highest cost to citizens would a $2.75 per $100 valuation.

Buddy Waters of Waters and Associates, engineers of Sikeston, told the group that for the first five years the rates would be expensive, but would decrease with additional users.

Alternatives to the new proposed sewer system explained by Sadler were that the city could wait and make no decision at the present time or could negotiate for consolidation with Sikeston.

Miner residents at the meeting indicated they do not want the town to stagnate, but want to progress by pursuing some program to expand the water system and install a sewer system.

A majority of the 40 persons present were not in favor of consolidating with Sikeston. Mayor L. F. Wheeler said today he wished more people had attended the meeting. Miner has about 700 residents.

SHS cagers go down battling

CAPE GIRARDEAU — There wasn't a lot of spirit in the warmup. Some handclapping and yells of encouragement, but not a lot. There was a grim, determined look on the faces of the Sikeston basketball players, but the people occupying the half- filled gymnasium didn't notice until midway of the first period. By the time the game was over, Sikeston's Bulldogs had lost as expected -- but not really as expected. SHS led by a point with a minute to go, before dropping a 52-50 decision to heavily- favored Cape Central.

By now the Cape Girardeau people should have learned. When Sikeston's coach N. P. McDaniel says season records "don't mean a thing," he means it. Even after last year's stunning 70-67 upset of Cape by the Bulldogs, the Tiger faithful weren't so faithful, as just a handful showed up for the game. They were slightly outnumbered by the good- sized (considering Sikeston's record and the 30- mile trip) Bulldog followers who were almost witnesses to history repeating itself.

The coach had mentioned after last Friday's 77-53 loss to the Bengals that he was going to have a controlled, disciplined, co-operating offense Tuesday night, even if he had to replace some folks. Well two starters rode the bench most of the game, although Vangalee West did prove to be a very effective reserve, and the only question Sikeston fans are likely to ask now is "What took so long?"

"The boys showed courage and character," the coach commented after the game. Sikeston, with only one man over six feet tall most of the night, fought a five- inch per man height disadvantage to push Cape Central to the brink before falling to the Tigers on three late free throws, a fluke tip-in and a goal - tending call that never came. The missed goal- tending call and a disputed backcourt violation did something the highly- touted Tigers had proved unable to do -- beat the Bulldogs.

Sikeston 5- foot- 11½ floor leader Roy Bowman played one of his best games of the year. Bowman scored 24 points to lead all scorers, grabbed ten rebounds for the top Bulldog effort on the boards and held 6-foot-6 Owen Suggs way below his performance of the past Friday until late foul trouble made him give Suggs some leeway.

Bowman was joined on the boards by sophomore Mark Eaves who also enjoyed a fine night, scoring his highest point total, a dozen, and grabbing eight rebounds.

On the other hand, the two big men for Cape were just that - big. Six - foot- 9 Stan "Stretch" Ray muscled his way inside to grab 19 of Cape's 30 rebounds and his 21 points matched the output of Suggs. The inability to completely halt the duo undoubtedly hurt SHS, as the rest of the team combined to hit just three of sixteen shots and scored ten points.

The controlled offense worked to perfection for Sikeston. A few early missed shots and turnovers by the nervous Bulldogs gave Cape an early six-nothing lead, but the Bulldogs. led by Bowman and Ronald Marks, settled down, tied the score and then went ahead at 11-8. The Sikeston crowd shreiked its delight. The Orange side simply gazed, unbelieving.

By the quarter's end the Tigers had narrowed the margin to one, 13-12, but they were visibly shook and Sikeston seemed to control the tempo of the game. The Bulldogs were shooting well and playing good defense, and the good defensive effort was a first for the entire season. The floating zone defense and the man- to- man were working to perfection for Sikeston. The Tigers, who have little movement to their offense, and seem to rely on length - of - the- court fastbreak passes for offense seemed to be stymied. Then a couple of Bulldog turnovers cost them some points and Cape regained the lead. By halftime they held a narrow 25-24 margin.

Words of inspiration evidently flowed from Central coach Dan Milligan's mouth at halftime and the Tigers came out for the second half tipoff ready to play ball. They outscored Sikeston in the first part of the quarter 10-1 to bulge the lead to 35-25, then added another fieldgoal to their margin by the period's end.

Trailing by a dozen 43-31 entering the last frame the Bulldogs were in the same spot they had occupied a year previously. The late rally which they again put on this time fell a bit short, although a 17-4 splurge during the frame did enable them to grab the lead for the first time in the second half at 48-47. With 1:06 remaining the Dogs tried to stall the ball but were called for a back court violation in a heavily- disputed call at least by those on the Sikeston side, and the Bulldogs fouled Suggs who put Central ahead to stay.

After some wild floor- length dashes and missed shots, Cape seemed to be in the driver's seat with a 52-50 lead, two seconds showing on the clock and a man at the free throw lane. However, even though Bill Seabaugh hit his first charity toss, a technicality about the placing of players during the shot cost Cape the ball and gave the Bulldogs a last chance. A pass inbounds was relayed toward Bowman, who was surprisingly open under the basket. But the buzzer sounded while the ball was in the air and Sikeston's "Mister Clutch" never got to get the shot off.

The loss dropped Sikeston's record to a final 7-14. Cape advances to the tournament's second round Thursday night against Poplar Bluff with a record of 21-4.

It was a long season for coach Mac and his boys. Much was expected of them and they disappointed some people with lethargic defensive play and selfish shooting, with little co-operation or teamwork. However, the different personnel against Cape showed that the coach's techniques will work, you just have to have someone willing to put them to use. Once again a Sikeston team has peaked at regional time. Unfortunately, the Bulldogs fell just a whisker short. It's a real shame the season couldn't last one more week.

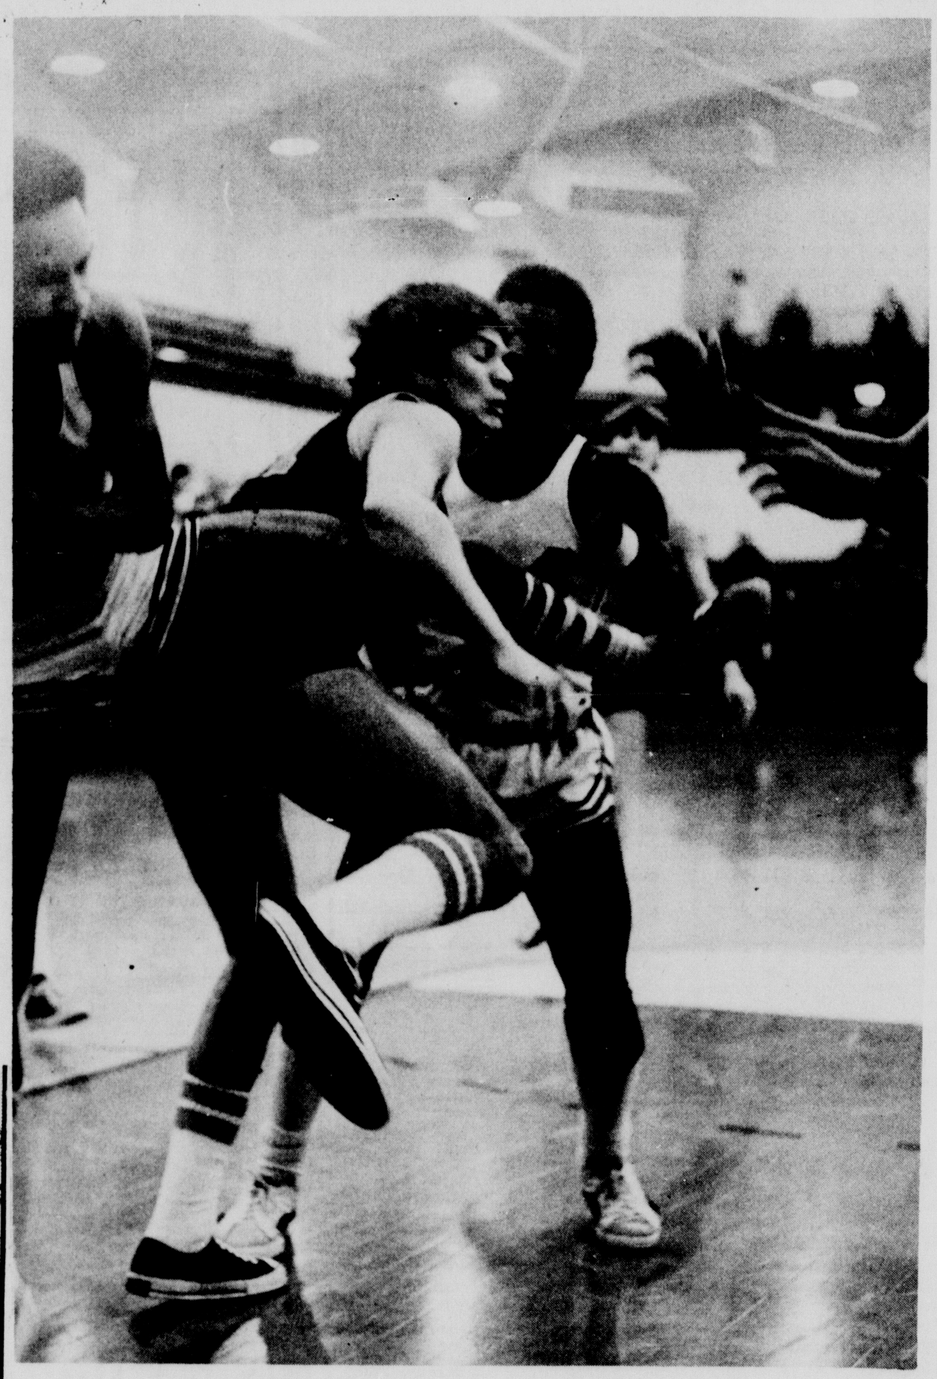
Basketball clinic at SeMo St.

CAPE GIRARDEAU-- About 40- 50 students from four southeast Missouri high schools are expected to attend a women's basketball clinic and tournament Saturday (March 2) at Southeast Missouri State University.

High schools represented will be Doniphan, Hayti, Dexter and Bloomfield, according to Miss Margaret Mates, instructor of physical education at Southeast Missouri State.

The clinic, which will cover fundamentals, is a project of the Women's Recreation Association and students in the women's basketball officiating and team sports courses, Miss Mates said.

It will be conducted in Parker Physical Education Building with registration at 9 a.m.



Sikeston high school's Ron Marks (white uniform) gets his leg pulled during class AAAA regional tournament action at Cape Girardeau Tuesday night. The Bulldogs dropped a 52-50 battle to the highly favored Bengals.

Cards use new cage

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals' spring training camp swelled to 30 players Tuesday as Jay Johnstone, former Oakland Athletic outfielder, and rookie infielder Stan Papi reported a day ahead of today's deadline for non-pitchers and catchers.

The full Cardinal roster of 40 players is expected to be in camp today.

Meanwhile, unseasonably cold weather drove most St. Louis players into the National League club's new indoor batting cage, and right hander Scipio Spinks was one of those taking his turn on the indoor mound sheltered from the 40- degree temperatures.

Spinks, who is trying a comeback from injuries of the last two years, slipped to 1-5 last season following his 1972 knee surgery, but then missed the last four months of play due to an inflamed shoulder.

Pitching coach Barney Schultz reported that the hurler was coming along fine.

"Spinks' knee is fine," Schultz said. "He hasn't complained about a thing."

Bing Devine, Cardinal general manager, expressed great pleasure with the club's $25,000, double-covered batting cage.

"It pays for itself on days like this," he said. "It is even equipped with lights for dark days. Hurlers are able to pitch and batters able to hit, even during inclement weather."

Johnstone hit .107 in 23 games with the A's last season and has played with both the California Angels and the Chicago White sox of the American League.

Papi, acquired in mid-season last year from the Houston Astros in exchange for Ray Busse, hit .266 with the Cardin's Tulsa farm club before being sidelined with a broken hand.

Coach Larry Warren was a happy fella Monday night after his Lilbourn Panthers moved him within three games of a life long dream. The former Parma Pirate cager, who played in four regional finals while in high school, needs only a victory tonight at Cape Girardeau to take his team to Columbia for the weekend finals.

Warren seeks state finals

CAPE GIRARDEAU--- Lilbourn high school coach, Larry Warren, is within one victory of a life long ambition as a prep coach and that faces him and his Panther cagers here tonight at Houck field house as they battle St. Pius X of Festus for the right to advance to this weekends class AA state tournament finals in Columbia. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

That desire was built by Warren during his prep days at Parma, a long time basketball power in New Madrid county.

Even as a junior high athlete, Warren would often comment about his desires of state tournament competition, and that desire is even stronger today as he takes his team against the 17-10 Lancers.

Inspiring that desire was his prep coach, Doyle Denbow, a well known prep star from Morehouse who coached Warren through junior high and high school and often reminised about his state tournament experiences while at MHS. Denbow is now in the administrative field at Ironton and was among the spectators Monday night as his "boy" claimed his first victory in the state event.

"I hope Larry will make it," a enthused former coach Denbow noted. "You know, we nearly made the state bracket in 1963 when we lost by one point to Arbyrd and were always in the finals." Denbow finally took his 1966 PHS team to the state and then retired from coaching. "I am proud of my "Boy" and I wish him the best of luck," Denbow said.

The LHS Panthers will be taking their 27- 2 record into the quarter finals of the class AA state tournament against St. Pius X of Festus.

The Lancers of coach Ralph Boyer have beaten such AAAA teams as North West of House Springs and Fox of Arnold during the season. St. Pius X has lost to such powerhouses from St. Louis as Cleveland and CBC.

The Lancers are not too big as far as height is concerned as the center, Steve Scheer is 6- 4. Alvin Riney is a 6- 2 forward. Earl Magre is 6- 2 at the other forward. Steve Kassen is a 5-10 guard and Terry Werner is the other guard at 6- 0.

The Lancers are not a high scoring team and play a basic man to man defense.

Lilbourn likes to run and plays a pressing man to man defense. The Panthers of coach Larry Warren have three of the most outstanding shooters in class AA anywhere in the state in Claude McFerren, Ernest McFerren, and Frankie Robinson with Robinson being the most productive of the three. Frankie, a lanky 6-1 sophomore, has tremendous jumping ability and also has the ability to get the shot off in a hurry while on the move. He is also one of the leading rebounders on the team to put him in the position as the Panthers most valuable man.

Inside the Panthers have 6- 4 Edward Farr, who averages 13 points a game and can go up for the rebounds. Carl Meadows is the other forward who at 6-2 can jump with anyone and has an inside scoring touch as his 13 points per game indicates.

The Panthers possess the best man to man defense in the southeast Missouri area as both McFerrens and Robinson possess great quickness and fine ball handling.

NCAA invitations

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Barring phone difficulties. nine schools will be invited on Thursday, 9:30 a.m., local time, to play in the NCAA basketball tournament.

Again, barring phone difficulties, by 9:31 nine teams most liely will have accepted.

"We tell the schools they have 30 minutes to accept or decline," said a NCAA spokesman from its Kansas City headquarters. "But I can't remember anyone declining. Our main obstacle is the phone company."

The expansion syndrome has hit college basketball's postseason tournaments. Where there were two major post-season college basketball tourneys last year with 25 open spots, now there are three and 33.

The Collegiate Commissioner's Association tournament has joined the National Invitational Tournament and the NCAA in the post-season grab bag for basketball talent, but it's still the prestigious NCAA Tournament which gets first crack.

Dr. Tom Scott, Davidson College Athletic Director, and chairman of the Division One Basketball Tournament Committee of the NCAA, meets with the other five committee members today by conference call hook-up to pick the tournament's nine at-large teams.

The chosen nine, when added to the representatives from the 16 major conferences, complete the NCAA's 25-team field.

Later in the day, the NIT, which will play its finals in New York's Madison Square Garden March 23, will start making its selections.

The CCA has agreements with eight conferences to send a representative other than its champion to the tourney in St. Louis, scheduled for March 14, 15, 17 and 18. These teams, those second-place teams that are eligible, won't be known until conference champions from the Big Eight, Big Ten, Missouri Valley, Western Athletic, Mid-American, Pacific 8, Southeastern, Southern and Southwest are decided.

The spokesman said approximately 20 teams were in the running for NCAA at-large bids:

In the East: Boston College, Maryland-Eastern Shore, Massachusetts, Pitt, Providence, Rutgers, St. John's, N.Y., South Carolina, and Syracuse; in the Mideast: Cincinnati, Dayton, Detroit, Marquette, Marshall, Notre Dame, South Alabama and Southern Illinois; in the Midwest: Houston, Creighton and Oral Roberts, and in the West, Hawaii.

Theoretically the nine bids all could go to teams in one region.

After the at-large berths are filled, the pairings for the March 9 first-round games will be made Thursday by picking the school names out of a hat.

In the West, two at-large selections will be paired against the winner of the Western Athletic Conference and Pacific Coast Athletic Association champion. The games will be played at Idaho State.

In the Midwest, two at-large teams will play each other and a third meets the Southwest Conference champion. The site of the games is North Texas State University.

In the Mideast, two at-large choices will play the winner of the Ohio Valley Conference and the winner of the Mid-American Conference. Indiana State will host these games.

In the East, three at-large teams will meet the champions of the Ivy League, the Middle Atlantic Conference and the Southern Conference. Three sites will be selected for the games. St. John's of New York, the Palestra in Philadelphia, Princeton University, West Virginia University and William & Mary all are in the running.

The winners in the first round advance to the regionals, all scheduled for March 14 and 16.

North Carolina State, currently ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press poll, will be host to the Eastern Regionals at Raleigh; the University of Alabama will be host to the Mideast Regionals at Tuscaloosa; the Midwest Regionals will be at Oral Roberts University in Tulsa, Okla., and the Western Regionals will be at the University of Arizona, Tucson.

The four regional champions then move on to Greensboro, N.C. for semifinal games March 23 between East and West, and Mideast and Midwest.

The championship and third place games will be played in Greensboro March 25.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Feb. 15, 1974

Dear Mr. & Mrs. Beardsley,

My Valentine's Day was very happy because Cookie arrived the day before. We were expecting her on the 14th and it was really a surprise when she came a day early. I was a little worried about everything because I was afraid that no one would be here at the farm when the Clark's arrived — and that's what happened. They had called and said they'd be here sometime in the morning, but I work from 8-6:30 and my brother has been doing hay off our farm leaving our farm very vacant. My brother waited until noon for Cookie and then had to leave. The Clark's arrived a little after 1 p.m. and called my 2nd cousin's wife in town and she met them. So at 6:45 p.m. I walk in our house and there's Cookie sleeping on the bed. Everyone was pleasantly surprised and everyone is just "beaming" — Cookie too. She's glad to be home and carries on like she's never been gone. I guess that's the marvelous thing about dogs, they always remember "home" and the "master". She's sleeping with my nephew now. I know you all are extremely fond of Cookie and I wish you could have seen her carry on when she arrived. She was jumping all around saying hello to everyone and then went scamping off with the farm dogs down the pasture. There are 3 dogs here besides Cookie: 2 pet bulldogs and a German Shepherd. She's really a sight in compairson with those 3 big dogs but they never hurt her.

Mrs. Bone wrote and would like a picture so why don't I send ya'll one too? The first chance I get I'll have a picture taken of our whole crew; my brother and his kids, myself and Cookie, the other dogs and maybe my girlfriend and her little girl too. That might be awhile but I'll do it, just be patient.

Thank you all so much and perhaps someday I'll be through Sikeston and let you see Cookie jump around with joy for yourself. I've got a feeling that that is just what she'd do at seeing you.

With Love,
David

Dear Sir:

Women of Missouri, don't let Women's Lib put one over on you, as they did in Maine, Montana, and Ohio this year. The recent passage of the Equal Rights Amendment in those states was accomplished almost entirely the the Women's Lib Movement. They pressured the State Legislators, and waged a frantic campaign for passage, using the enticements of equal pay for equal work, and better jobs for women, to lure unsuspecting women into supporting it.

The ERA does not guarantee Equal Pay, but following are some of the very radical and undesirable results which will occur if ERA becomes an amendment to our Constitution.

1. ERA will require that a wife be held legally responsible, equally with the husband, for the finanical support of the family.

2. ERA will make women subject to the Draft, if the Draft is resumed, and women will serve in all kinds of units, including combat.

3. ERA will wipe out the right of a mother to keep her children in case of divorce.

4. ERA will wipe out protections women now have from dangerous and unpleasant jobs.

5. ERA will wipe out the right to privacy.

There are many other disadvantages also.

Is this what YOU thought the ERA was all about? ERA will plunge us into a redical social and political order, and will lead to Government control of our children.

Don't let Women's Lib speak for you. They are waging a total attack on the home, the family and marriage. The hour is late, but we can still fight them and win!

Did you know that 15 of the states which hastily ratified the ERA are now trying to rid themselves of it?

So, if you do not want the ERA passed in your state, you had better begin working now for it's defeat. Don't let Women's Lib get ahead of you! You can inform others of the dangers of ERA, and inform your area State Legislators of our opinions.

For more information, and literature, please write to me at Rt. 1 Box 10-A, Hobe Sound, Fla. 33455

Thank you very much.
Sincerely,
Mrs. Marie Bound

To the Editor:

I would like to ask you if you would read over this and see if it is good enough to be put in your next edition of the Daily Standard? If so it would help the time and paper I used writing it. I one certain person would read I would like to think that is all I need to help my feeling over my dog. I've asked around and let other people read this to see if its was good enought to be in the Standard, most said yes. But maybe they were prejudice.

Thank you for your time and patience,
Larry Keller

ONE CERTAIN PERSON
ONE SPECIAL DOG

I always liked dogs and most they like me. I had a dog that I would like to tell you about.

I love dogs especially this one. He was the biggest prettiest Labrador Retriever I had.

He pointed rabbits and even trailed them, but he had one major weakness, he was gun shy. I don't really know how old he was, but he came to us about four years ago. This was a special dog so, I taught him a few tricks he liked to do. Everbody always liked him. Sometimes at night he would chase people. He wouldn't really harm anybody, but, at the time they didn't no that.

Now the reason I wrote this.

I went to school that morning and instead of coming straight home. I went to a friend's house.

I called from there and my dad said that "Biggin" was dead. He had been hit by a truck. The veterinarian said he might have lived but he never would have been the same dog I loved for so long. So he was put to sleep. I never saw him but what I was told was enough. Only his back was damaged. He would have lost all of his hide from his neck to his back. We don't know who did it but, who ever did must have been insane. It takes no guts to hit a dog and just let him go and die. Maybe he thought he would make it home, but there is that chance he wouldn't.

We know that it had to be a truck. Because a car sits to low to damage only his back.

As far as I'mconcern letting a dog die like that is like murdering your own son or daughter.

Just maybe this has taught that CERTAIN PERSON that it would only take five or ten minutes of his so precious time to knock on a door and see if anybody knows who the dog belongs to. He may even try taking him to the vet himself, I hope this will help sometime if you hit a dog. Just think about what you would want done if it was your own dog.

The End

SIKESTON, MO., STANDARD: "It's incredible. The butchers claim they're not making any money. The wholesalers claim they are not making any money. The meat packers say they are not making any money. The ranchers also say they are not making any money. So who's making the money? Sometimes we get the uneasy feeling that somewhere there are cows buying mutual funds and gold stocks!"

Attention: News Editor

Dear Sir;

Being a native of Sikeston the attached article from your paper which appeared in our local news paper "The Camarillo Daily News, Camarillo, California", caught my attention.

Though your problem sounds serious in Missouri, I can assure you it is just as serious in California. By the time the rancher has fatted the cow, then herded it to California, the butcher butchers, the meat packer packs, the wholesaler sells for retail, then comes my turn to purchase. It is not the cow but I who must own "mutual funds and gold stocks" in order to purchase even a piece of this cow. In fact it's more like trying to purchase the "Original Golden Calf," of the Bible.

Sincere sympathy,
Mrs. Ruth (Welch) Freda

P.S. My Mother, is Mrs. Lottie Welch, owner of the El Capri Restaurant in Sikeston. If the cow becomes scarce on your table you might try eating at the El Capri. I know for a fact that Mom can stretch a little piece of meat a very long way. She has had plenty of experience, having reared ten children and cooked at one time or another for most families of Sikeston through the restaurant business.

Marston man bound over to Circuit under $3,000 bond

NEW MADRID — Lester A. Lynn, alias Billy Joe Redden, of Marston was bound over to Circuit Court under $3,000 bond for trial on a charge of possession of stolen property following a preliminary hearing Friday before Magistrate Judge Leo Hedgepeth.

Lynn, is accused of having in his possession on Jan. 31, a 1972 two- door automobile, which had been reported stolen on Dec. 29, 1973 in Davidson County, Tenn.

James Michael Hall waived preliminary hearing on a felonious stealing charge and was bound over to Circuit Court under $500 bond. He is accused with two other youths of stealing a 40- horsepower outboard motor, gas tanks and a lawn mower from Carl Parks on Jan. 27.

John Floyd Fraysher charged with driving while intoxicated and driving on the wrong side of the road was fined $150. He was given a six- months suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for one year.

James Lesley Rogers was fined $125, given six months suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for one year when he pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated. David LaFayette Wheatley received the same punishment and his driver's license was suspended for one year after he pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated.

Calvin Wayne Horton, charged with possession of less than 35 grams of marijuana and careless and imprudent driving by speeding, was fined $80, given six- months suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for six months.

Dennis Wolfe pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of less than 35 grams of marijuana and was fined $75, given six- months in jail and six months probation. Wolfe, who had been released on probation Friday on an earlier charge of possession of less than 35 grams of marijuana, was committed to jail.

Jeffery Miles Baldwin was fined $115 on a speeding charge and was given 60- days suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for 60 days. He was charged with driving 98 miles per hour in a 70 mile per hour zone.

Others fined on speeding charges were Harold J. Uthoff, $35; Connie Baker, $26; Larry Blades, $20; Michael A. Garrard, $28; LeRoy Manseill Jr. forfeited $35 bond; Patricia Ann Walters, $34; Dolan Ray Uthoff, $25; Ricky Lee Bunch, $32; and Raymond Paul Radford, $30.

Tom James Collins was fined $65 on charge of driving while his license is under suspension, and Garner Lee Muse paid the same amount on charge of driving while his license is under revocation.

Jessie Burlison paid $50 fine on public intoxication charge.

Charged with illegal use of expired dealer license and no operator's license, Harold Shelby was fined $30.

Connie Ray Riddle paid $30 fine on improper parking charge and Wesley George Smith was assessed $25 fine on similar charge. Richard Lee Farr paid $25 fine on careless and imprudent driving charge.

Fined $20 each were Willie Lee Shoffner, careless and imprudent driving; Barbara S. Cagle, improper registration; Everett Paul Gardner, no operator's license; Maurice Von Manning, failure to display inspection sticker; Lutesville Pallet Co., defective brakes; Home Oil Co. failure to stop at railroad crossing; and Marian Ann Bowen, no operator license.

Jesse James Obryan was fined $125, given six months in jail and placed on probation for one year when he pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated. Charles Edward Williams was fined $65 for driving while his license is under revocation.

Cedric Williams was fined $50 on public intoxication charge, sentenced to 60 days in jail and placed on probation.

Charged with failure to drive on the right side of the highway, Percy Thompson was fined $25.

Crestline Finance Corp. of Dexter dismissed with prejudice a suit on note filed against Charles Tom Proffer.

Seminar held

A question and answer seminar on cyst nematode control in soybeans was held Tuesday at Smitten- Winters Equipment Co. on Highway 61 South. Area farmers were invited to the meeting to discuss chemical control of the cyst nematode with Carl Bobo, left, of Dexter, a representative of Shell Chemical Co. which produces several agricultural chemicals. Bobo demonstrates the use of various chemicals in Smitten- Winters applicators—to, from left: Richard D. Mills of Matthews, Frank Altom Jr. of Sikeston Route One, Harold Depro and Don Schuchart of Sikeston; Wilford Watson Jr. of Catron Route One; and Lloyd Winters of Sikeston.

Big K net income is up 9%

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Kuhn's Big K Stores Corp., which operates 84 discount department and variety stores in the Mid-South region, has reported record sales and earnings for 1973, with net income up nine per cent.

John W. Kuhn, president of the seven- state retail chain, said sales for the year which ended Dec. 31 were $127,840,156, a 33 per cent increase over the $95,947,982 reported for 1972.

Net income for 1973 reached an all-time high of $2,961,400, or $1.71 per share of common stock, compared with $2,708,655, or $1.56 per common share for the prior year.

"These results are an excellent reflection of the strength of the company in its market area," Kuhn said, "and we are certainly pleased at the attainment of new records in the areas of sales, earnings and expansion. It is a tribute to our management team, and to our retail professionals at the store level, that the company successfully met its continuing goal of profitable growth, and achieved it in a year of increased costs, government controls and generally unstable economic conditions."

Kuhn said the company looks forward to the year ahead as one of "increased profitability, particularly from the 27 new Big K stores opened during the past two years, as they come of age in sales and earning power in their respective markets.

"Management also anticipates a positive effect on operations during the current year from the recent easing of government price controls on the retail industry." Kuhn continued, "as well as from the continuation of our expansion program into carefully selected, profitable new areas."

Kuhn's - Big K operates 57 Big K discount department stores and 27 Kuhn's Variety stores in Tennessee, Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi and Missouri (including a Big K in Sikeston, Mo.).

A record 14 Big K's were opened during 1973, and the company has announced plans for opening an additional 14 Big K's this year and early in 1975. Among the outlets scheduled to open this year is a Big K in Bedford, Ind., which will represent the company's entry into its eighth state.

The company's stock is listed on the American Stock Exchange.

Did any of you see the Mike Douglas show last month when he had Dr. Atkins, Adele Davis, Dr. Stillman, and the lady that's the head of Weight Watchers on? Well, it was the most informative and fascinating t.v. show I've seen in years! It seems that Mike Douglas had lost 40 pounds on Dr. Atkins diet and at the same time eaten away like a farm hand and he was wildly enthusiastic about the whole thing; so much so, that he had these three other leaders of diets on his show with Atkins and let them all argue and debate why their diets were the best. Well, Stillman and the W. W. lady acted like fools and screamed and ranted, but Atkins and Adelle just sat and listened and then very calmly told about their program. Adele Davis said Atkins diet was the same that had been used in hospitals years before insulin in the treatment of diabetics, and then went on to tell what a fine program it was and how far down it will also drop high blood pressure and cholesterol. Now, when you see all the cream, eggs, fat and butter you may have on this you'll think "impossible", but, I tried the diet before passing it on to you, and believe you me, I'm like Mike Douglas, it ain't impossible, it's just great!! All you do is cut out your carbohydrates (this is not the Air Force or drinking man's diet), eat all day, all you want, but just eliminate a few unhealthy items. I went on this diet last Fri., lost 6 pounds in 5 days and every bit came right off my "anchor", a spot which has never dwindled away before, and I didn't have to go hungry or do one exercise, and what is more is that I haven't had this much energy or felt this good since the day I was born!! The book can be gotten here in paperback form and the name is "Dr. Atkin's Diet Revolution", also pick up a carbohydrate gram counter and you're in business. DO NOT turn to the diet page and menus & try to figure out from there, there's no hurry — turn to page 1 and read the entire book! It's interesting and in very simple words explains the entire diet as well as the reasons why it works and why you can eat constantly and still stand on the scales the next day and lose a pound. DO NOT CHEAT, you're just hurting yourself, buy your vitamins and use them and the Ketostix are fun to get and see the lovely results with. Try one and get no color and then three days later who says purple isn't your favorite color. Anyway, I am absolutely wild over this diet and am so crazy thankful to Dr. Atkins i'd run off with him if it wasn't for the fact that I was so fond of ole Charlie (besides, who'd get him dressed in the morning), and I sincerely believe that no one needs to be fat or bulgy anymore if they'll just listen and do what this charming gentleman tells them. Hey, if you balk at the price of the vitamins, don't, it would cost you that much for a visit to your doctor to be put on a diet so just look at it that way. Am now looking forward to seeing only slim ladies in a couple of weeks — don't let me down!

COOKING-UP

By WANDA ATCHLEY

Can today's young brides cook as well as their mothers? Those of us who have tasted foods prepared by 23-year-old Nancy Cooper of Dexter are inclined to say yes.

Mrs. Cooper represents the typical young housewife of today, who cares for a home and family as well as holding down a full-time job. After working all day as a secretary, she must be able to prepare a quick wholesome meal for her husband Larry who puts in a rather strenuous day in concrete construction.

After all this, she still finds time for her favorite hobbies of sewing and locating and refinishing antiques.

Nancy and Larry, who will celebrate their second wedding anniversary next month, are in the process of building a new home near Aquilla on which they plan to do most of the work themselves.

"I leaned to cook in my early teens," Mrs. Cooper said, "Not because I had to, but because I simply enjoyed cooking."

Here are some of Nancy's favorite recipes, which she says are real time savers after a day on the job.

SPANISH DELIGHT

1½-2 lbs. ground beef
1 Medium onion
½ Green pepper
1 Tbsp. chili powder
1 can corn
1 15-oz. can tomato sauce
1 pkg. mozzarella cheese

Brown ground beef in skillet with onion and green pepper. Salt and pepper to taste. Drain any excess grease.

Add chili powder, corn and tomato sauce. Simmer about 15 minutes.

Alternate layers of mixture and strips of mozzarella cheese into baking dish. Put into 350-degree oven until cheese is thoroughly melted.

This recipe can be made and refrigerated the day before using.

QUICK KIDNEY BEAN SALAD

2 cans (1 pound each) kidney beans
3 hard boiled eggs
½ onion
¼ cup chopped sweet pickles
4 slices bacon
Salad dressing.

Fry bacon crisp and drain. Drain beans. Combine with next four ingredients. Add enough salad dressing to hold ingredients.

ORANGE CHICKEN BAKE

2½ to 3 lb. cut up chicken
1 slightly beaten egg
¼ cup orange juice
½ cup crushed crackers
¼ cup bread crumbs
½ tsp. paprika
Shredded orange peel from one orange
3 tbsp. butter

Dip chicken pieces into mixture of egg and orange juice, then into mixture of crackers, bread crumbs, paprika, peel and one half teaspoon of salt.

Melt butter in large, shallow, baking pan in 400 degree oven. Remove pan from oven.

Turn chicken in butter to coat. Bake at 400 degrees for 30 minutes. Turn chicken, bake 30 more minutes.

MOCHA DESSERT

1 3-or 3¼ ounce package vanilla pudding
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. instant coffee
½ cup semisweet chocolate pieces
Flaked coconut
Maraschino cherries

Prepare pudding according to label directions and add vanilla. Divide in half. To one half, add the instant coffee and chocolate pieces; stir to dissolve.

Spoon the pudding into sherbets, alternating layers. Trim with coconut. Top with maraschino cherry if desired. Chill thoroughly.

PINEAPPLE UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE

½ cup brown sugar
3 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 can (about 1 lb.) pineapple slices
Maraschino cherries
2 cups flour
3 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
¼ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 tsp. vanilla
¾ cup milk

Set oven for moderate, 350 degrees. Sprinkle brown sugar in bottom of well-greased pan, 9 x 9 x 2 inches. Dot with butter. Melt mixture over low heat.

Drain pineapple; place slices in pan with cherry in center of each.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening. Add sugar gradually and beat until fluffy. Add egg and vanilla; beat well. Add flour mixture, a little at a time, alternatiely with milk. Pour batter over fruit.

Bake one hour or until light brown. Turn upside down on serving plate at once.

Stretch food dollar with baked lasagna

Looking for an economical meal to serve the family? Try lasagna!

Baked lasagna is one of those good stick-to-the-ribs meals that goes a long way toward stretching food dollars. There are many different recipes to choose from, and the nice thing about it, there's usually enough left over to serve another day.

BAKED LASAGNA

1 pound lasagna noodles, large
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 pound ground beef
1 tablespoon cooking oil
2 teaspoons marjoram
2 teaspoons oregano
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1 cup tomato paste
1 cup cottage cheese, ricotta
1 pound mozzarella cheese
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Oil noodles with olive oil before placing in boiling water. Cook, then drain. Cook beef in cooking oil, add spices, salt, sugar, parsley and tomato paste. Line bottom of casserole with noodles. Add layer of ground beef, cottage or ricotta cheese. Place six slices of mozzarella cheese next. Add noodles and repeat.

Cover and bake in 350 degree oven for 35 minutes. Makes 10-12 servings.

Modern Swiss steak is easy

You bake this in cooking bag or wrap.

2 1/2 to 3 pounds bottom round beef steak, cut 1 1/2 inches thick
1/3 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup shortening
4 small onions, cut in thin strips (1 cup)
1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes

Cut meat into 6 portions trimming away fat. Mix together the flour, salt and pepper and pound into meat. In a 12-inch skillet heat 2 tablespoons of the shortening; add onions and brown; place onions in cooking film bag or wrap, closing one end if using wrap. Place in a baking pan (about 13 by 9 by 2 inches). Add remaining 2 tablespoons shortening to skillet and brown meat; place in bag. Pour off any fat in skillet. Pour tomatoes into skillet and over low heat stir to get up drippings; pour over meat and onions. Fasten and vent bag or wrap according to package directions. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until meat is tender — 1 1/2 hours. Remove meat to serving platter and keep warm in a low oven. Pour gravy into a saucepan; let fat settle, then skim off. If gravy is thicker than you like, add enough water to thin; reheat and pour over meat. Makes 6 servings.

Pimiento potatoes

They're made in a skillet and are brown and crisp on the bottom.

1 1/2 pounds potatoes
1 1/2 tablespoons finely grated onion, pulp and juice
1 jar (4 ounces) pimiento, drained and diced
1/2 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste
6 tablespoons butter

Cook potatoes in their jackets in boiling salted water; remove skins and chill; grate coarsely. Toss with onion, pimiento, 1/2 teaspoon salt and pepper. In a 10-inch skillet, over moderate heat, melt butter. Add potato mixture, pressing down well with a wide spatula. Cook without stirring until well browned on underside — about 20 minutes. Cut into pie-shape wedges and serve, brown side up. Makes 6 servings.

ROAST CHICKEN—Interesting and delicious when served with a tomato-clam rice casserole.

Treat chicken a new, easy way

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

As Mediterranean cooks know, chicken is especially delicious when given a rice-and-seafood partner. With this in mind, a friend of ours evolved a recipe for serving roast chicken with a casserole of tomato-clam rice and passed along the recipe to us. Because this is an oven-style main course, the cook has time to spend the predinner hour with her family or company.

The chicken is marinated in Italian dressing before roasting and as a result has excellent flavor and color. The dressing we used in testing is made from oil, vinegar, salt, sugar, garlic, spices and lemon juice and comes in an 8-ounce bottle. A little of the dressing also goes into the rice combination. Don't expect strong seafood flavor in the casserole — the clams add only a delicate undertone.

ROAST CHICKEN WITH RICE CASSEROLE

3 to 3½ pound roasting chicken
¼ cup bottled real Italian dressing
Rice Casserole, see below

Rinse chicken and dry. Place in transparent plastic bag. Pour dressing over chicken in bag. Close bag with twist tie and rotate bag so that dressing coats chicken well. Place bagged chicken in a dish and refrigerate for several hours, rotating bag several times to coat chicken with dressing. When ready to roast, remove chicken from bag, discarding marinade. Skewer neck skin, if there is enough to do so, to back; tie legs together; fold wings back akimbo fashion. Line a small shallow pan with foil; grease foil. Place chicken on one side in pan. Roast in a 375-degree oven until tender and browned — 1½ to 1¾ hours — turning chicken on other side midway. Bake Rice Casserole, covered, along with chicken during last hour of roasting — if at end of this hour liquid in casserole is not absorbed bake casserole a little longer while chicken is "resting" before carving. Carve chicken and serve with Rice Casserole.

Makes 6 servings.

RICE CASSEROLE

1 cup converted-type rice
16-ounce can tomatoes, undrained
10½-ounce can minced clams, undrained
¼ cup bottled real Italian dressing

In a 6-to 7-cup casserole stir together the rice, tomatoes (snip with scissors if in large pieces), clams and dressing. Bake as directed above in recipe for Roast Chicken with Rice Casserole.

Breaded frying chops

Quick to cook:

6 center-cut thin pork chops, about 1¼ pounds
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
Salt and pepper to taste
Large egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons (about) butter or margarine

Cut any fat away from around chops. In a shallow dish stir together the crumbs, poultry seasoning and salt and pepper; dip chops in mixture, then dip in egg and again in crumbs. In a large skillet in the hot butter fry chops over moderate heat until brown on both sides and cooked through. Makes 3 servings — 2 chops per portion.

Desserts can be easy

Nancy Cooper of Dexter displays the pineapple upside down cake and the mocha dessert which she prepared from this week's recipes.

After measuring several suits of armor, etc., a major encyclopedia has come to the conclusion that some medieval men were tall, while others were short.

Expensive grip

It won't be long before gasoline will be getting even more expensive. Federal Energy Administrator William Simon has announced that wholesale gasoline prices soon will be allowed to rise again, which in turn will mean a price rise at the pumps and make filling your tank even costlier than it already is.

House passes $515 million bill to fund public schools

JEFFERSON CITY, MO. (AP) — The Missouri Senate today gave first-round approval to a bill that would add an additional judge to both the Kansas City and Springfield courts of appeals.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Ike Skelton, D-Lexington, called for a judge at Kansas City. But was amended on the floor by Sen. Nelson Tinnin, D-Hornersville, to add a judge at Springfield.

Sen. Edward Linehan, D-St. Louis, voted against the bill, saying he objected to the procedure for adding the Springfield judge. "This is no way to get an appellate court judge," he said. "We have no way of knowing whether the acts are correct."

On Tuesday, the Missouri House passed a $515.5 million appropriations bill to fund the state's public schools for the 1974-75 fiscal year.

The bill, which was sent to the Senate amounts to an increase of about $7 million over the current 1973-74 fiscal year. The total does not include federal money.

In Senate action, a bill to hike Workmen's Compensation benefits was given first round approval. It would raise basic disability rates from $70 a week to $95. Payments for workers who are partially, but not permanently disabled would go from $65 to $75 a week.

Amendments were tacked onto the bill to keep farm laborers and domestic workers from being covered and employers who hire seven or less employes would not be covered.

First round approval in the House was given to bills that would lay down strict penalties for state income or sales tax evasion.

Fines of up to $10,000 and prison terms from two to five years could be imposed on persons who willfully evaded taxes or filed fraudulent returns. The crime is made a felony, rather than a misdemeanor under the current law.

State Revenue Director James Spradling said the state loses $30 million a year in sales taxes.

The Senate gave first-round approval to a bill increasing basic disability benefits from $70 a week to $95 under the state workmen's compensation law.

The bill would not cover farm laborers, domestic workers or employes with seven or less employes.

In other action, the House gave preliminary approval to bills that would make it a felony rather than a misdemeanor to fail to file sales or income tax returns or fail to pay the taxes.

Another bill given tentative approval would allow the revenue director to require surety bonds from businesses that might be considered poor tax risks, before giving them a license.

The new punishment for tax evasion would be a fine up to $10,000 or two to five years in prison. The maximum penalty is a $1,000 fine.

The House also gave preliminary approval to bills that would:

—Allow sheriffs in 3rd and 4th class counties to patrol all public roads in the counties and authorize purchase of more vehicles and men to do the patrolling.

—Raise the state payment to counties from 15 cents to 35 cents an acre for forest cropland and to raise the local levy of privately owned forest land from $1 to $3 an acre.

—Allow license plates to be transferred to a wife or husband. Sponsors said this would eliminate the necessity of a woman getting a new license plate because her name is changed when she marries.

—Require the operator of a public garage to notify the state revenue director when a car is left in the garage for 15 days.

Crash kills woman, daughter

A Hornersville woman and her 13- year - old daughter were killed and two Perryville residents were injured in three area traffic accidents Tuesday, according to the highway patrol. The two fatalities raised the number of persons killed in Southeast Missouri this year to five, compared with 16 traffic deaths at the same time last year.

Mrs. Patricia Donnell, 36, and her daughter, Wanda Lucille Hall were fatally injured at 5:15 p.m. at the junction of Highway 164 with Routes Y and N three miles north of Hornersville when an eastbound car driven by Mrs. Donnell failed to stop at a stop sign and was struck in the side by a southbound car driven by Ruth Evelyn Christian, 59, of Hornersville.

Another daughter of Mrs. Donnell, Rita Faye Hall, 16, was seriously injured, and another passenger, Glenn Gilbert, 17, of Hornersville Route One, received critical injuries. Both were taken to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett. Gilbert was transferred to Baptist Memorial Hospital in Memphis, Tenn.

The bodies were taken to Russell Funeral Home in Piggott, Ark.

Edward Deimund, 19, of Perryville received minor injuries at 5:55 p.m. when the car in which he was riding, driven by Charles E. Clampitt, 30, of Friedheim, pulled from a gravel road onto Highway 51 six miles south of Perryville into the path of a pickup truck driven south by Ivan L. Myers, 38, of Patton.

Deimund was taken to Perry County Memorial Hospital in Perryville.

A one- car accident at 7:45 p.m. on Route B two miles south of Portageville also resulted in one injury.

The accident occurred when a station wagon driven south by Peggy Sue Lorenz, 16, of Perryville ran off the left side of the road on a curve.

Miss Lornez received minor injuries and was taken to the Perry County hospital.

Furniture store is burglarized

NEW MADRID — Cartner's of New Madrid, a furniture store at 447 Main St., reported to police Tuesday that between $10 and $15 in quarters was stolen sometime during the weekend.

Entry is believed to have been made through a small vent, according to Marshal O. E. Householder.

For the second time within a week, thieves attempted to enter R. C. Smith Jewelry Store on Main Street. Householder said a screen was torn off a window and the glass broken Tuesday night, but the store was not entered. Two youths were reportedly seen running away from the building.

Two juveniles were apprehended at the store last Wednesday when police were notified someone was trying to kick in a back door.

Bond complains of House action on appropriations

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Christopher S. Bond complained today that action by the Missouri House on appropriations bills would lessen the ability of the executive branch to manage state affairs.

He said it may result in his vetoing bills or challenging them in court.

Bond called a news conference to criticize the way a budget bill for the Revenue Department sets out expenditures. He said the money is earmarked for 49 different subunits of the department instead of giving the department a lump sum as in the past.

"This hamstringing of agency directors would eliminate all the benefits of streamlined management which reorganization was supposed to provide," Bond said.

He said if the budget bills reach his desk in this form he would be faced with the alternative of vetoing them or going to court.

"This is not the kind of things appropriations bills can or should deal with," he said.

But House Speaker Richard Rabbitt, D-St. Louis, disagreed. "Somebody's got to watch the budget," Rabbitt said. "We feel it is our job to see the taxpayers money is spent the proper way."

Rabbitt said closer accounting could be obtained by earmarking how funds should be spent "rather than just giving them a lump sum."

He suggested if the legislature doesn't approve of the information service it should pass a law to prohibit it, rather than using the appropriations route.

Comprehensive plan is ready to print

The City Council Tuesday night authorized the submitting of the city's comprehensive plan for publication and approved an ordinance setting April 2 as the date for submitting an annexation proposal to voters requesting authorization for the addition of 600 acres to the city limits.

The city's updated comprehensive plan, completed after several months of work, will go to press Monday. The plan must be updated every five years if the city is to remain eligible for federal funds.

Work on the plan was largely done by the Planning and Zoning Commission and the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission.

"I think it's a pretty good comprehensive plan," Bill Whitlock, acting city manager, told the council. The council agreed and authorized the publication with little discussion.

Only two small technical errors were found and were ordered corrected. In the public grounds section, a ball park was omitted and, in another section, the new junior high school was listed as being under construction.

One error the council decided to keep. Cape Girardeau is listed as one of the smaller communities surrounding Sikeston.

Any persons interested in ordering copies of the comprehensive plan may place an order at the City Administrative Building. The cost will be $1 per copy. Orders must be placed by Monday.

The city will order 300 copies in addition to the 75 it will receive from the BRPC, plus whatever the public orders.

The council routinely approved the ordinance setting the date of the annexation election on the same day as the city's general election.

The council appointed Lewis Blanton to the Scott County University of Missouri Extension Council.

The council tabled a request to transfer the five per cent beer license at Sharecropper Inn, 804 Tanner St. from Mrs. Martha Hopper to Charles Copeland, 643 Greer St.

Fire damages McGee station

Firemen were called at 1 p.m. Tuesday to McGee Service Station, 868 W. Malone Ave., when fire broke out in a trash container and damaged the inside of the building.

The blaze apparently was started by a discarded cigarette or match tossed into a cardboard box filled with trash.

The fire broke out a few minutes after owner Jesse McGee left the station to deliver a truck he had been working on.

Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze, but considerable damage was done to the interior of the building.

At 2:01 p.m. Tuesday, firemen were called to an open field north of Bloemer's Grocery on North Kingshighway, when burning trash set the weeds afire.

The blaze was extinguished without damage.

Butterfly bill moves up

A bill designating the monarch butterfly as the state insect was approved by the House Governmental Organization Committee Monday night, providing that elementary school students in Sikeston can have a voice in government.

In winning approval of their proposal, the students proved they had more clout with the House committee than leaders of honey industry who were lobbying for the honey bee to be named the state insect.

The Missouri Bee Keepers Association and members of the state honey industry fought hard for their insect, but found they were no match for the students of the Sikeston elementary school system.

When the students heard that Rep. James Strong, a Republican from Jefferson City, had presented a resolution to have the honey bee named the state insect, the students of Mrs. Violetta McGee's third grade class at Lee Hunter School launched a petition drive to have the monarch butterfly receive the honors.

The idea caught on and spread to other classes of Lee Hunter School, then throughout the elementary system.

The students submitted

Miner eyes sewer system

Miner residents Tuesday night indicated to the town board in a special planning board meeting that they are ready to take some kind of step toward obtaining a sewer system for the town.

The meeting, held in conjunction with open house at the new courtroom, was called in an effort to "feel out" the citizens' views on procuring a new sewer system.

Milton Sadler, zoning commissioner, who chaired the meeting, persented to the group of about 40 persons, a preliminary engineers' plan that would double the capacity of the present water plant in Miner and would place 100,000 gallons of elevated storage on the east side of Interstate 55, with

The Economic Development Administration has awarded Sikeston a $2,500 technical assistance grant to determine the feasibility of an industrial park for the city of Sikeston, according to Phil Shelton, director of the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission, which sponsored the grant request.

Before the EDA puts money into a development of this kind, a study must be made to determine if there are adequate facilities to support such an undertaking. The assistance grant will be used to make this study.

Lee Carter and Associates of St. Louis, an industrial developments planning firm, has been selected to make a study of the area, Shelton said this morning by phone from his office in Malden.

The study will reveal such things as acreage needed, zoning and facilities that will be required.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

VOTE WISELY!

Recently, syndicated newspaper columnist, Alice Widener, watching the evening news on her television set heard the newscaster announce a "riot at Social Security Administration headquarters in Manhattan as blind, aged and disabled fail to receive checks on time." But, noted Mrs. Widener, the words did not seem to match the picture. The scene on the TV screen revealed policemen and young toughs; none of them were "blind," "aged," or "infirm." Her newswriting curiosity aroused, Mrs. Widner investigated.

She learned that the rioting youth toughs, angry over not getting their "welfare" money on time, were indeed not aged or infirm; they are, in fact, drug addicts. Furthermore, she found, some 14,000 of them are now receiving "Federal" money. And, she also found, the payment to each is $77.50 per month. For the 14,000 in New York City (and who knows how many other cities are doing the same) the annual total is over 13 million dollars.

Comments Mrs. Widener: "I'm glad to do more than my share for the deserving poor. But it just sticks in my throat for me to have to work as hard as I do ... and know that part of my tax money goes to support big strong young ruffians ready to tear down a U. S. Government building if they don't receive 'their' welfare money to support their drug addiction in idleness."

Congress, which has the Constitutional authority to appropriate your money, is directly responsibile for the wasteful expenditure of not only millions of dollars — as in the case cited by Mrs. Widener — but of billions of dollars now going for non-defense, non-public- safety purposes. What Congress giveth, Congress can taketh away; which, translated, means that members of Congress have the power to reverse the present process, and cease the practice of taking money out of your pocket and putting it into the pockets of undeserving others.

The results of several recent elections indicate that many people are today voting against candidates with a Republican label because they are mad at the President. In so doing, however, they have voted FOR candidates who are on the left — i.e., candidates who are for heavier taxation a bigger national debt, more government control and authority, more bureaucracy, more 'welfare'' and all the rest that goes with the so-called "liberal" spectrum. It is difficult to believe that that is really what the voters want. It is easier to believe that many have been voting (and many others did not vote at all) on the basis of emotion rather than logic.

The forthcoming 1974 Congressional elections will go a long way toward determining what kind of a country we are going to have. Voters will need to decide whether they wish to have a government more totalitarian, or less totalitarian, than the one we now have; and then vote for the candidates who best fit that desire. In this critical year it will be extremely important for all to vote wisely, and not emotionally.

According to a news report, a resident of Arlington, Tex., recently wrote his congressman to report on an incident that he thought might be of interest.

It seems that one day he and his wife had been making pear relish, and his wife cut her finger while paring pears. He took her to the local hospital, where a doctor closed the cut with five stitches. Six days later, a long distance telephone call came for his wife from an outfit he believes to be the National Electronics Surveillance System of the Federal Food and Drug Administration. The caller wanted to know how his wife had cut her finger. Was a product involved, and was it to blame for the cut? His wife answered no. She had been using a kitchen knife, and the operator of the knife was solely responsible for the cut.

The writer complimented a system that can inform Washington about a cut finger in six days, but he figured that when a cut requiring only five stitches elicits a long distance telephone call from a Washington bureaucrat, he is getting a great deal more government than he wants to pay for.

We agree.

THERE'S NO PEANUT CRUNCH

There may be another use for the lowly peanut that even George Washington Carver never thought of.

According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, fireplace "logs" made of a mixture of peanut hulls and waxes may soon be doing their small bit to ease the energy, uh, crunch.

At the present time, the producers of peanuts and peanut products get rid of vast quantities of the hulls in incinerators.

"That seemed to us to be a terrible waste of a potentially useful resources," says Bill Albrecht, of USDA's Russell Research Center at Athens, Ga. "So by way of experiment, we compared two brands of commercial wood chip longs with our peanut hull logs by burning them in a home fireplace."

The wood chips logs burned about four hours, while the peanut logs burned for three. But the latter, he reports, "seemed to burn more vigorously, with a warmer flame."

Also, the peanut logs were easier to ignite, odorless and produced little smoke. When salts were added to the mixture, the logs burned with pretty colors.

The researchers believe that peanut logs could be marked for about the same cost per unit of warmth as

SELF-SERVING TACTICS

Missourians now preparing their tax returns will be saddened to learn that their state legislature once again is up to its old self- serving tactics.

The Missouri Senate Judiciary Committee has approved a $9.1 million plus pension plan, which includes another hefty benefit increase for legislators.

Action on this bill came only a few days after the Missouri House Fees and Salaries Committee approved a salary increase for legislators from $8,400 to $12,000 a year.

Only last year the Missouri General Assembly slipped through a disguised salary hike when it increased its daily expenses from $10 to $25 a day. This extra compensation is in addition to the legislators' annual salary for their part time job in Jefferson City.

That hike to $25 a day in expenses passed last year will mean legislators spending an average of 104 days a year in Jefferson City will receive a total of $19,400 a year when their compensation is figured for time spent in the Capital City.

When they are not in Jefferson City, legislators have other jobs and interests, which further increase their income. Even when the legislature is in session, legislators arrive late Monday afternoon and go home at noon Thursday.

In addition to these benefits, Missouri legislators also receive mileage allowances from their homes to Jefferson City, about $500 a session in stamps and the opportunity to accept free meals and liquor from lobbyists.

For many years free beer and liquor has been delivered on a regular basis to the offices of legislators at the Capitol. (We wonder how effective a tax paying private business would be if it allowed employes to swig free beer all day while on the job.)

Missouri legislators last year changed the law to permit hiring of as many secretaries as they felt necessary. It was revealed that some legislators have their secretaries back home on the state payroll, but nothing was done about it by Senate President Pro Tem William Cason or House Speaker Richard Rabbitt.

Gov. Christopher Bond promised to investigate the Senate hiring of secretaries who didn't show up for work when the legislature was not in session. But the governor never announced the results of his "investigation."

When it comes to compensation, Missouri legislators already rank near the top among other states. Even before the expense hike to $25 a day last year, the Citizens Conference on State Legislatures reported the Missouri legislature ranked 13th among the 50 states in compensation. When actual time in session is figured, Missouri legislators received about $100 a day from the state even before last year's exepnse hike.

Too many legislators have developed an unfortunate attitude that they are doing the state an enormous favor by acting as a lawmaker. This is especially true among laywers, who get rich because of their legislative connections and their fat retainer fees.

The legislature's cavalier attitude toward the public was demonstrated when it decided to evict full time paying state employes from a state parking garage in order to make room for legislators and their secretaries to park their cars free.

This year's pension bill, introduced and pushed once again by Sen. Maurice Schechter, D-Creve Coeur, would cost Missouri taxpayers a whopping $9.1 million more for the first full year the bill would be in effect.

Under Schechter's bill, legislators could continue to retire after serving only six years in the legislature. The benefit rate for legislators would be increased from $37.50 a month times the number of general sessions served to $45 a month times the number of general sessions served.

As an example, Schechter's bill would permit a legislator now paid $8,400 a year for his part time job in Jefferson City to retire after 24 years of service and receive a state pension of $6,480 a year.

By contrast, a full time state employe earning $8,400 a year with the same number of years of service to the state would draw only $2,520 a year in retirement benefits.

Schechter also wants to eliminate the separate retirement plans for the Highway Patrol and the Highway Department and merge them into the pension system now being raided by legislators.

Who would pay for this $9.1 million monstrosity cooked up by Schechter? Why, the Missouri taxpayers, of course.

Many state employes are being sold a phony bill of goods by greedy legislators who tell them they can have something for nothing. Legislators are still contributing a modest amount to their retirement system. But many thousands of state employes may later find themselves with little or no pensions while greedy legislators receive huge benefits sucked from the State Employes Retirement System.

The taxpayers will stand only so much gouging from their elected state legislators. In the last election, many self-serving legislators were defeated.

To their credit, most Mid-Missouri members of the General Assembly have voted against various legislator benefits increases. The News Tribune publishes how they vote on the issues. But there are still many legislators especially in St. Louis and Kansas City, who feel their constitutents back home will never be informed of their self-serving tactics.

If a majority of legislators persist in lining their pockets with taxpayer funds, the only practical alternative for Missouri citizens is to organize an initiative petition drive to change the state Constitution in such a way that the people of Missouri will determin throgh the petition and subsequent election how much salary and benefits the Constitution will permit Missouri legislators to receive.

CHAVEZ UNLEASHES 3,000 AGITATORS

Cesar Chavez, would-be czar of America's 3,000,000 farm workers, will pour more than $5.5 million into his nationwide campaign of harassment against workers, consumers and retailers who refuse to honor his "boycott" of non-United Farm Workers union lettuce, table grapes, and domestic wine this year.

Still reeling from a disastrous 1973 — a year in which he lost most of his compulsory union contracts with California growers, stripping him of the nearly 70,000 captive "members" — Chavez has vowed to unleash his supporters in their full fury in coming months.

These are the same supporters who were recently described by nationally syndicated labor columnist Victor Riesel as uncontrollable "crazies."

In an attempt to recapture the money- fat glory days of 1970-1973, when compulsory dues dollars extracted from unwilling workers as a condition of their farm employment filled his coffers to overflowing, Chavez recently reported in a fund-raising message mailed around the country that he expects to have more than 3,000 agitators in 65 cities in the U. S. and Canada by early 1974. Their mission will be to carry on the tactics of disruption and harrassment which forced retailers in 1970 to put so much heat on growers that the growers caved into Chavez' demand for "contracts" which the workers wanted no part of.

The key ingredients of those contracts were a seven-day compulsory union shop; a compulsory union hiring hall, and a blacklisting provision, permitting Chavez to punish dissenters.

Despite continued sympathy from many ill-informed churchmen and from the same "cadillac liberals" who supported him in 1970, Chavez doesn't seem to be generating too much sympathy from consumers — who genuinely seem fed up with his nearly ten years of whining half- truth.

For the many farm workers who were able to go their own free ways after the collapse of Chavez' compulsory union contracts last year, the coming months will be crucially important.

They will find out if Chavez' minions, on their alleged $5 each per day, can deceive the American people into forgetting:

1) That Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers union opposes free employee elections;

2) That Cesar Chavez never has had more than a few thousand voluntary members in his union, and

3), That America's farm workers have demonstrated clearly over the past year that they want no part of the United Farm Workers union revolution.

What they want is the freedom to decide for themselves what union, if any, to pay their hard earned money to ...

SUPERPORTS FOR ENERGY

Mr. James J. Reynolds, president of the American Institute of Merchant Shipping, has pointed out the general agreement among industry and government sources that rising energy demands will mean steadily increasing importation of crude oil. The question is: "How will it be transported here? Today, a mere 700,000 barrels of crude are imported on tankers each day. This figure will skyrocket to over 14 million barrels daily by 1985 ..."

Mr. Reynolds warns that the limited depth of Eastern seaboard U. S. ports would require a minimum fleet of 2,700 relatively small tankers to meet our annual needs --- tankers drawing about 38 feet of water. He called attention to the urgent necessity of constructing off-shore, deep water terminals which can accommodate supertankers - vessels weighing 250,000 deadweight tons and drawing 66 feet of water. If properly utilized, a fleet of 525 such vessels could handle the task.

He concluded that, "The ships would off-load at such terminals ... without the need to even enter our frequently crowded waterways and ports ... Congestion in our ports would be lessened and the likelihood of incidents reduced. And of great importance to the ultimate consumer these VLCC's (Very Large Crude Carriers) would transport a ton of crude petroleum to our shores from the Middle East at less t an half the cost than if carried in a conventional 47,000 DWT ship."

Tankers are a vital element of the new merchant shipbuilding program. What many have overlooked is that terminal facilities are equally vital in meeting tomorrow's energy needs.

CRAVING VENGEANCE AT ANY COST

Arab pride, frustration and wishful thinking rather than a realistic assessment of probable consequence have once again set off major military conflict with Israel, the fourth since the small nation thrust itself into existence in 1948.

It is difficult to believe that Egypt and Syria, with limited assistance from Palestinian guerrillas and reportedly some Moroccan troops, actually entertained hopes of crushing Israel and slashing at long last the Gordian knot of the Middle East by their two- front invasion launched on the Jewish holiest of days, Yom Kippur.

Even if their objective was to retake chunks of former Arab territory occupied by Israel since the 1967 Six- Day War, either to strengthen their bargaining hand against Israel or to improve their military position in anticipation of yet a fifth Middle East war inside a generation, simple realism dictates that such a result would be as unacceptable to Israel as outright defeat itself.

It was precisely because of Arab refusal to bargain to recognize Israel as a permanent entity and because of constant harassment and threats from Egypt's Gaza Strip and the Golan Heights bordering Syria, that Israel launched its 1967 blitzkreig and has tenaciously held onto its territorial gains since then.

How could any Arab strategist, knowing anything at all about the Israeli character, expect Israel to commit less than its full military power to retaining that which has given her her only real security in 25 years?

This leaves as a third alternative the objective of simple revenge, of harming Israel as much as possible, of action, even if ultimately useless, rather than more months and years of inaction, of using all those beautiful weapons that have been accumulating since 1967.

The price of this kind of glory comes extremely high.

Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba, who has the reputation of being the most independent- minded leader in the Arab world, told a reporter on the first day of fighting that "the outcome will not be favorable to the Arabs."

If this kind of realism ever begins to permeate the minds of Egyptian and Syrian leaders, we might begin to speak of peaceful solutions to the perpetual Middle East crisis.

Israel is driving home once again and the lesson that she will not yield to force of arms.

Will the Arabs finally begin to learn that lesson? Or like the Palestinians, frustrated in direct conflict with Israel, will they take another tack - like using oil to pressure Israel's supporters in the West?

Meanwhile, the United Nations was proving once again that it is much less than the sum of its parts.

So politically paralyzed is the U. N. that the Security Council, designed to preserve the peace of the world, could not even issue a simple call for a cease-fire.

THE AWFUL TRUTH

The kindergarten teacher dreaded rainy days. It meant thirty-five pairs of galoshes to struggle with. Three times that day she had helped her little charges pull their overshoes on or off.

At day's end, as she gave the final tug, little John remarked,"These aren't mine."

The teacher had had it. But she counted to ten and began pulling the little boy's feet out of the galoshes. He watched in silence, and when it was over, said soberly:

"They're my sister's, but mother says I have to wear them today."

REFRESHING DEPARTURE

Sober second thoughts are being expressed with increasing frequency, relative to the feasibility of revolutionary changes in the U. S. medical and health care system. Nations that have tried shortcuts to medical Utopia, via the path of a government - controlled, tax- supported medical system, have left behind a far from distinguished record. The hope is growing that the United States can avoid the traps of mediocrity and bureaucracy which are the common accessories of government programs in any field.

Illustrative of the current approach of many medical leaders is that of the Assistant Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Merlin K. Duval, M. D. He notes that, "Society has declared that all citizens have the right to quality health care ...", but he stresses that, "... By working together, we can create a system that is uniquely American, one that serves both the patient and the provider with equity." He cautions against making radical and sudden changes that sacrifice the strengths of the present system.

One of the greatest strengths of the U. S. medical system is the vast, voluntary insurance and prepaid financing machinery that has evolved over several decades. The head of the largest prepaid financing organization in the United States has drawn attention to the important role of organizations such as he represents in strengthening the present system and preserving its best features - such as voluntarism, free choice, and the sensitive, personal relationship which sould always exist between doctor and patient. He emphasized most strongly that the nation "... should retain its pluralistic and basically voluntary mechanisms for financing health care."

Thoughts such as these are surfacing more and more among leaders in the health field. They reflect a refreshing departure from the striden cries and exaggerated claims in behalf of a monolithic, government - managed, medical care program. The best answers to U. S. health and medical care problems will be found to bear the stamp "uniquely American."

FRIENDS OF THE U.S.A. IN EUROPE

Sometimes it seems as though our country has very few friends left among our European allies. Anti—U.S. propaganda has been so virulent and so long continued in Europe that it seems it must reflect the way people there really feel.

But in fact, in Europe as in the United States, the principal voices heard in the communications media are not at all representative of the people at large.

This has been clearly shown recently in the Netherlands or Holland, where propaganda against the United States during the war in Vietham was especially vicious. After this propaganda reached a climax a year ago and it became evident that substantial numbers of the young people of Holland were beginning to be convinced by it a group of Dutch scholars, writers and statesmen joined together to form a new group called Solidarity in Alliance, Holland and the United States.

This group held its first meeting in the Dutch City of Utrecht October 27, and according to its chairman, C. C. van den Heuvel, it has already received numerous tokens of enthusiastic support from university students and professors. It will publish a monthly information bulletin to correct misunderstandings about U. S. policies, and will study and expose "anti-Americanism" in Holland, particularly in the communications media and in "educational, church and cultural circles."

Similar groups are now planned for Belgium, West Germany and Great Britain, to join in working to bring the truth about the United States and its policies to the people of these European countries whom we have done so much to protect. HLH.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Missing FBI Files

WASHINGTON --Raw FBI files, containing sensitive information about presidents and other prominent people, were sneaked out of the FBI after the death of J. Edgar Hoover.

The missing files, according to FBI sources, included reports on the sex exploits of the late President John F. Kennedy, the wheeling -dealing of the late President Lyndon Johnson and the flirtations of the late Eleanor Roosevelt.

The late FBI Chief kept the files in his personal custody, because he didn't want subordinates reading them and gossiping about the contents. Nevertheless, our sources have seen the files which, they say, were removed by Hoover's faithful factotum, Clyde Tolson.

Our sources stress that the files contain titillating but unverified gossip about famous people. One report, for example, claims that in late 1941 John F. Kennedy romanced a woman suspected of German espionage. His exploits with the lady occurred in Charleston, S.C., where he was working on a project for the Navy to protect defense factories against bonbing.

Our sources saw nothing derogatory in the files about Lyndon Johnson. But it is understood tapes and memos once existed concerning Johnson's backdoor activities. Some of this embarrassing material, we reported in an earlier column, was removed from the files and sent to him at the White House.

While Eleanor Roosevelt was the First Lady, some of her private conversations were monitored. These contained suggestions that she had carried on dignified flirtations with a former New York state trooper and later an Army colonel.

One FBI memo, seen by our sources, reported that President Roosevelt had learned about the colonel and had blurted angrily he should be shot.

In 1937, the FBI conducted a field investigation of Richard NIxon after he had applied to become an FBI agent. The report on Nixon wound up in Hoover's safe, although our sources say it was wholly favorable.

It included a statement, for example, from Dean H. Claude Horack declaring "Richard Nixon is one of the finest young men, both in character and ability, that I have ever had the opportunity of having in my classes. He is a superior student, alert, aggressive, a fine speaker and one who can do an exceptionally good piece of research when called upon to do so."

The removal of these files, according to statements the FBI has made in court, would be a violation of law.

FOOTNOTE: Our sources say that Hoover's trusted secretary, Helen Gandy, handled the sensitive files for him. When we asked her about them, she stated firmly: "All official files were left there." Beyond that, she had no comment. We couldn't reach Tolson whose friends said he is in too poor health to respond to questions.

SOVIET LOBBY: A 30 -member Russian trade delegation will visit Washington this week to lobby for special tariff treatment. On February 27, for example, the Soviets will breakfast with the members of the powerful Senate Finance Committee.

Capitol Hill sources told us the breakfast session was encouraged personally by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. The State Department denied this, but finance chairman Russell Long's office admitted "the suggestion came to us from downtown."

President Nixon is pushing strongly for special trade relations with the Soviet Union despite widespread congressioanl opposition and the expulsion of auther Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn.

The President's purpose is to promote the Soviet -American detente. But behind the warm handshaking, as sometimes happens, is the cold cash of GOP contributors who stand to benefit from the new policy.

American business leaders, who hope to profit from the trade between the two superpowers, contributed heavily to the Nixon campaign. Among them are Pepsico's Donald Kendall who donated more than $24,000 to the Nixon campaign chest, and Occidental Oil's Armand Hammer, who contributed $46,000 in cash.

TRAFFIC SAFETY: While 55,000 Americans are dying every year in automobile accidents, the federal agency that looks after traffic safety is disregaring deadlines for drawing up safety regulations.

Ralph Nader, in a private letter to Administrator James B. Gregory of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, complained that it took a court order last year to force the agency to issue used -car and tire -quality inspection standards that should have come out in 1968 -69.

A spokesman for Gregory told us that the agency lacks the funds and data to meet its deadlines. Nevertheless, it has oftern refused to ask for the full amount of money authorized by Congress for its work.

The case of the unhappy hooker

By JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Whatever else she was, Hester was no grammarian. For example, whenever she approached a man on the street, she ended every sentence with a proposition.

For 25 bucks, she offered her favors. When she inadvertently offered them to a policeman, however, she was arrested on charges of violating a statute that made it a crime for a female to offer to have nonmarital sex for a thing of value, namely, money.

"The statute is unconstitutional, "insisted unhappyHester in court "It deprives me of equal protection of the law. It prohibits us girls from engaging in nonmarital sex, but not men."

"We don't discriminate," responded the indignant district attorney. "We pick up anybody who does it. As for the statute, there's nothing unconstitutional about it. Things being what they are, it's only reasonable to specify women in the statute."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you find hooker Hester guilty of violating a valid statute?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that it is permissible to distinguish between the sexes in a statute when there is a legitimate reason for doing so. And, noted the judge, historically, there has been an inherent and substantial basis for directing anit-prostitution laws against females. Since Hester failed to show the unreasonableness of the statute, concluded the judge, or that it wasn't equally enforced against men, the statute was valid. (Based upon a 1973 Wisconsin Supreme Court Decision)

A belief that's basically for the birds is that an albatross hovering above a ship would bring on bad weather!

In 1922, Germany became the first nation to legally recognize Soviet Russia when it signed the Treaty of Rapallo, which established diplomatic and economic relations and cancelled debts and war reparations. Also, Germany helped to organize the Red Army in exchange for the use of secret areas in Russia to design and test tanks and aircraft forbidden Germany by the Treaty of Versailles, The World Almanac recalls.

Pack 43 holds annual banquet

Cub Scout Pack 43, sponsored by the Southeast Elementary School Parent-Teachers Association, held its annual Blue and Gold banquet Friday night in the Security Federal Savings and Loan Association community room, celebrating 64 years of scouting.

Jerry Crismon is cubmaster of the pack which consists of four dens and one Webelos den, totaling approximately 35 boys. Awards were given to 15 boys and their parents.

Entertainment was provided by Bill Coomer, a magician from Cape Girardeau.

A special appreciation award was presented to Bob Browning, a former cubmaster who is moving to Dallas, Tex. Mrs. Linda Browning accepted the award for her husband, who is already in Dallas.

Hedrick earns masters degree

COLUMBIA-- Tom Hedrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hedrick of 310 Kramer Drive, Sikeston, recently graduated from University of Missouri- Columbia with a master of science degree in civil engineering. He was funded throughout his graduate work for research on collapse containment in concrete panel buildings.

Hedrick has accepted employment in the Denver design office of Rocky Mountain Prestress, a Mid-America conglomerate. The firm is a manufacturer and erector of pre- cast pre-stressed concrete for buildings, bridges, pipelines and other related heavy concrete construction.

Ann Landers

Wife leaves light shining, hopes for beautiful ending

Dear Ann Landers: What do you think of Encounter Groups? Are they real or phony? --Just Asking.

Dear Just: Some are real but most are phony. Before you consider joining check the sponsorship. For example, if the group is sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. you know it's probably O. K.

Before signing up and handing over anv money, ask if you can drop in to observe a session. If they say, "No spectators" -- for get it.

Make certain you have the right before joining, to "sit our" any part of the program if you choose not to participate.

If, after you join, you feel you've made a mistake and wish you hadn't, LEAVE. Better to lose only your money than your peace of mind and self-respect.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been a faithful reader for many years and have seen myself in your column time and time again. Today you printed a letter from "Your Friend in Marshfield, Wis." -- an expression of gratitude for the advice you gave to another wife, years before. She saw herself in that letter, took the advice, and it changed her life.

Her husband, too, had a wandering eye. Your counsel was, "Forgive and forget. If there's a light in the window he'll come back. And don't be stubborn, take him. You won't regret it."

That column made my day. Although my husband is living with another woman, you've given me the courage to say, "I will take him back whenever he is ready to come."

A light is now shining in my window and I hope I, too, will be able to write a letter with a beautiful ending. --Lonely And Praying.

Dear Lonely: I'll pray, too, and I promise, dear if you write that letter, I'll print it

Dear Ann Landers: My brother's daughter was married recently. He and his wife gave a large buffet reception honoring the bride and groom. My husband and I and our three children chose to stay home. We did not attend either the wedding or the buffet. Now the whole family is mad at us.

My mother says we should have notified them that we would not attend. I say since it was a buffet and not a sit-down dinner, it wasn't necessary. Mother says a wedding gift was in order, but I've been told that if you don't attend the wedding you don't owe a present. (I did give my niece a shower gift)

The whole family says we are wrong. I say an invitation does NOT obligate the recipient. Please reply in the paper so the relatives can see it. --- No Social Blunderer

Dear Blunderer: Here's my reply, but when you see it you'll wish you hadn't written to me.

An invitation does NOT obligate the recipient to attend OR buv a gift, but it certainly carries the obligation of a response, whether it's a sit-down dinner or a picnic in a park.

The fact that you and your family would choose to stay at home rather than attend the wedding of your niece sends out some extremely negative vibes. I sense enormous hostility between your family and the family of the bride.

An apology would only be a beginning at patching this up. You've given them a real clop in the chops and mere words don't change things.

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers's booklet, "Booze and You -- For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill.60654.

Carolyn Fluegge plans July wedding

Carolyn R. Fluegge

CHARLESTON — Mr. and Mrs. Marvin E. Fluegge announce the engagement of their daughter Carolyn R. to Richard H. Lohrmann, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Herold G. Lohrmann of Sikeston.

Miss Fluegge is a senior at Charleston High School.

Lohrmann, a 1970 graduate of Sikeston High School, is a second year student at Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau, majoring in industrial technology, and is in the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program at the university. He plans a career in the Air Force.

A July 7 wedding is planned.

Miss Clayton engaged

Mrs. Charlie Clayton, 102 Reuben St., announces the engagement and forthcoming marriage of her daughter Phyllis Ann to Steve Clark Matlison, son of Mrs. Clark Matlison, Route Two.

Miss Clayton and Matlison are both employed by Big K.

A March 30 wedding is planned.

Glass cutting program presented

RISCO--- Mrs. Don Landers presented a program on bottle and glass cutting to the Risco Rural Independent Club at a Feb. 14 meeting in the home of Mrs. Verly McCord.

After a covered dish luncheon, the group discussed the annual club movie and dinner night. Mrs. Tommy Pearson, vice president, presided.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Royce Fortner and children, Mrs. P. C. Crouthers, Mrs. Charles Kirksey and Jenifer, Mrs. Floyd Smelser, Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. G. H. Coffer and Mrs. Gene Lancaster a visitor.

12 young women honored

The girls were selected by their schools as the outstanding citizens in their senior classes.

Klugh Cowan, Richland High School at Essex; Teresa Schuchart, Sikeston High School; Teresa Lancaster, Scott County Central High School; Claudette Seyer, Oran High School; Ruth Ann Westrich, Kelly High School at Benton; and Deborah Kemp, East Prairie High School.

Each girl was accompanied by her mother.

The chapter's executive board served as hostesses, and Miss Margaret Harris, chapter historian, presented the awards, assisted by Mrs. William Huff.

A display was arranged, consisting of literature and photographs illustrating the topic of the program, "What the Daughters Do", which was presented by Mrs. Helen Loud Jones. A short history of the National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution and an outline of the varied activities and goals of the organization were reported by Mrs. Jones.

The National Society of Daughters of the American Revolution was organized Oct. 11, 1890, and was incorporated by an act of the United States Congress in 1896. The national headquarters buildings in Washington D.C., cover an entire city block.

Membership as of Feb. 1, 1973, was 196,681 in 2,968 chapters in the 50 states, District Columbia and overseas units in England, France and Mexico.

The society has three objectives: historic preservation, promotion of education and patriotic endeavor.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Marcus J. Seyer and Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Wilhite.

Miss Mary Ann Seyer was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza over angel mist taffeta and Venise lace motifs and a chapel train.

Her chapel- length veil was held with a Camelot cap, and she carried a cascade of orchids with carnations and pompons.

Maid of honor was Miss Linda Seyer, sister of the bride. Miss Debra Gouge of St. Louis, cousin of the bride, and Miss Faye Wilhite of Cape Girardeau, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore lavender velvet gowns with white lace on the bodices. Each carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and baby's breath.

Harold Crowden was best man and Ronald Wilhite and Steven Seyer brothers of the couple, were groomsmen. Ushers were Michael Compas and Michael Griffin.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Oran. Miss Berta Wilhite, sister of the bridegroom, was at the guestbook.

Mrs. Wilhite is employed by Thorngate, Ltc., while Wilhite works for S and W Cabinet Shop. After a wedding trip through the southern states, the newlyweds are living in Chaffee.

10 pledges become members

New pledges are Ruth McCollum; Melba Wiley; Marianna Heeb; Mildred Graviett; Shirley Crites; Myra Myers, a transferee from Beta Sigma Phi in Anderson, Ind., Irene Smith; Sharon Lathum; Dorothy Sanderson, Polly Hanks and Forothy Pennington.

Dee Comer, vice president, was in charge of the ceremony. Myrtle Nunnelee, president, read the degrees, assisted by chapter director Jessie Taylor and social chairman Nadine Collins. Mrs. Comer and Faye Harper were in charge of the pin presentation.

Afraid You're Going Deaf?

Chicago, Ill.- A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

This is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so write for yours now. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 9375, Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 W. Victoria St., Chicago, Ill., 60646.

Obesity mysteries studied

Two areas of research are among the newest therories that hope to solve the mysteries of obesity-- of why some people are overweight. One area concerns the development of fat cells in the body; the other involves psychological influences that may cause overweight.

Let's take fat cells first: Some of the vital development of the fetus can only take place in the last few months before birth. Development of the brain, for example, could be limited in the fetus if the mother -to -be does not enjoy adequate nutrition. Certain nutrition inadequacies cannot be corrected after the baby is born.

This is why pediatricians now recommend that pregnant women gain more during pregnancy then they were recommending a few years ago. It became apparent that too many babies were being born underweight and with other problems stemming from maternal malnutrition. At the same time, physicians do not want pregnant women to gain too much, for both their own sake and for fear the fetus will develop to many fat cells. Similarly, pediatricians watch the weight gain and diet of babies, knowing that if they are overfed they will develop too many fat cells.

Too many fat cells in his body could be a lifelong problem. Once developed, you never have less. The problem thereafter is cell size --to keep the fat cells you have from becoming to big.

In early life - and the diet is influential -the infant first develops numbers of cells only. Then, in a second stage, he increases both numbers and size of cells together. Finally, size only is increased. So, in pediatrics, the aim now is to not develop too many fat cells in early life and then keep them a reasonable size.

Answers really aren't available yet. But people who constantly must fight weight may have more fat cells than is desirable. When they reduce they merely shrink the average size of their fat cells.

It is theorized that the reason people usually regain weight may be that their fat cells literally are starving on a reducing regimen and screaming for more nourishment to maintain a larger size --- the result of a percedent set in early life.

This might account, especially, for people who regain weight after crash dieting.

The psychological clues regarding overweight include a theory that overweight people are more responsive to their environment, that is, to outside influences.

For example, in research reported by Dr. Judith Rodin of Yale University's Department of Psychology in New Haven, Conn., overweight and average -weight persons have been studied doing work such as proofreading.

When they were in a quiet room, undistracted, the rate at which each person accomplished his task was measured. But when a tape of background music was played, efficiency dropped. especially among the overweight persons.

The overweight person, in other words, is more distracted by the sound. He responds more to outside stimuli. This, according to the theory, explains his positive response to good smells, appearance of food, and other people eating.

It is, for him, irresistable. He eats too much and too often. He is overweight. When researchers learn more about all this , prevention may be possible.

Fathers receive prizes

Prizes were awarded to the winning fathers in several categories of competition as father's night was observed at the February meeting of the Southwest Elementary School Parent- Teacher Association.

A committee, selected to nominate a slate of officers at the March meeting, included Mrs. Wade Paris, Mrs. Joe Nunnelee, Mrs. John Scarbrough and Jack Cothern.

Members voted to use funds left in the treasury after payment of bills to purchase three artificial Christmas trees lights and a cassette tape player.

Mrs. Ken Scherer's class took first place in number of parents attending, with fathers counting double. Mrs. Charles McGinty's class was second.

The PTA membership drive was won by Mrs. Arlen Maevers' class.

Lilbourn girl elected to honorary

LILBOURN-- Brenda Lancaster, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Lancaster of Lilbourn, has been elected to the Society of Outstanding American High School Students.

The society is a high school honorary organization that recognizes leading students.

Miss Lancaster, a junior at Lilbourn High School, was chosen by the society after nomination by her school because of her academic accomplishments and leadership in extra- curricular activities. She will be listed in the society's annual volume.

Hosing down grass fire

Dennis Overbey hoses down a stubborn grass fire in a vacant field north of Bloemer's Grocery on North Kingshighway. The fire broke out about 2 p.m. Tuesday when burning rash blew out of a trash barrel into the field. Firemen had difficulty putting out the blaze as it spread under a heavy layer of dead weeds.

Police car and insurance bids accepted in Malden

MALDEN — The City Council Monday night voted to accept a low bid of $2,985.15 for a new police car from Mustain Motors.

Dennis Chevrolet submitted at bid of $3,100, and a bid of $3,209 was offered from Rowe Ford.

The council also accepted a low bid of $6,948 from John Davis Insurance Agency for general liability and compensation insurance coverage for the city. A bid of $7,282 was submitted by Floyd Hampton Insurance Agency.

A discussion by the council indicated that present plans for the new community building may have to be altered slightly to maintain cost. Construction on the new building is expected to begin June 1.

The deadline for filing to enter the race for city councilman has been set for 5 p.m. March 15. Names of clerks and judges for the April 2 general election were submitted and will be forwarded to the county clerk for approval.

Dick Beall Jr. chairman of the ambulance committee, submitted a check for $400 toward the purchase price of the new vehicle, making a total of $800 received in February.

The council voted to dismiss the humane officer and appointed Doc Lovelace to replace him.

John P.Ieri resigned from the recreational park committee and J. W. Wilcox was appointed to the position

An ordinance was passed allowing the placing of only two wreaths or containers of flowers on graves in the city cemetery except on legal holidays. The city will charge $50 for grave openings on weekdays and $75 on weekends and holidays.

The council voted to grant $675 to the fire department for needed equipment.

Firemen called to Howard home

NEW MADRID-- Firemen were called at 9:20 p.m. Tuesday to the home of Mary Howard at 210 Line St. where a fire of undetermined origin caused extensive damage to the kitchen and living room areas.

Firemen were at the scene about an hour and a half.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More than 12,000 miners were reported off the job today in a spreading walkout to protest a drastic shortage of gasoline in southern West Virginia.

The West Virginia Coal Association said that the number of miners not working in the state had increased from 9,000 Tuesday to 12,000 today. It said the more than 30 mines that were closed produced about 140,000 tons a day. Most of the mines produce mettalurgical coal, a high-grade fuel used by steel mills.

The miners say gas shortage is so severe that they can't obtain enough fuel to get to work.

Pickets began appearing at some mines in Logan County Tuesday and by this morning at least 16 of the county's mines were closed.

A spokesman for the Kanawha Coal Operators Association in Charleston, W.Va., said the shutdown had not spread into the association's mines, but companies feared dwindling gasoline supplies might produce high absenteeism. The association includes about 128 mines which employ 3,700 men.

"We have just reached the point of absurdity in the energy crisis when the producers of one fuel — coal — can't get to work because of inadequate supplies of another fuel — gas," said United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller.

The gasoline shortage caused coal mines in southwestern portions of Virginia to begin closing Tuesday and touched off strike threats in eastern Kentucky's coalfields.

In Virginia, UMW officials said as many as 40 per cent of the area's coal miners were off the job Tuesday.

Rep. Carl Perkins, D-Ky., urged the White House to supply his area with more fuel and warned that coal production was declining because miners could not get to work.

Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. accused Federal Energy Office chief William E. Simon on Tuesday of unwarranted delays in supplying gasoline to the area.

Meanwhile, there were these other energy developments:

—Rhode Island will initiate a voluntary odd-even system of gasoline rationing on Friday.

Six states have mandatory rationing plans in effect; eight have voluntary plans.

—New Hampshire officials said the state's emergency allocation of 2.55 million gallons of gasoline has already been exhausted.

—And in Dover Township, N.J., some 100 Ocean County gasoline dealers have scheduled a flag-burning on Thursday to mark the start of what they say will be defiance of New Jersey's mandatory odd-even rationing plan.

Harvey Ashley, a leader of the dissidents, says the flags to be burned will be the red, yellow and green flags that operators are supposed to display to show if no gas, limited gas or unlimited gas sales are available.

He said starting on Thursday the dissidents will serve only regular customers, on any day of the week, regardless of license-plate number and regardless of how much gas the motorist has in his tank.

—Six California counties, involving about half of the state's drivers, will start mandatory, state-supported odd-even systems on Friday.

SeMo U. enrollment up

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Spring semester enrollment at Southeast Missouri State University is 7,193, an increase of 143 over the spring term of a year ago, Registrar Alton Bray reported Tuesday.

The headcount figure includes 6,116 undergraduates and 1,077 graduate students. Graduate enrollment is up 229 over the comparable time a year ago while undergraduate enrollment is off 86 for the same period.

The total enrillment is also down from the all- time high of 7,669 last semester, but a decline of this sort for the second semester of the academic year is considered normal, according to Bray.

This semester's enrollment figures show 6,489 students enrolled in courses on the campus and 704 taking classes at various off- campus locations in the university's service area.

The number of men and women at the university is almost equal with 3,542 men and 3,651 women enrolled. However, the single students -- 5,267 of them -- far outnumber the 1,926 married students.

Roger Chism, 18, Kimmswick, injured head and fractured right arm in car accident; Nolan Fitzgerald, 18, Godfrey, Ill., abdominal and back injuries and scalp cut in car accident; Gary Shepherd, 19, St. Louis, brusied right knee in car accident; William Reno, 19, Kimmswick, cut scalp, scratched left shoulder in car accident; and Frances Barbre, 17, New Madrid, cut head and left arm when she went through piece of plate glass at school.

Police Chief Leon Culp said today five officers attended the Police- Juvenile Procedures Seminar, Tuesday in Cape Girardeau.

The seminar was sponsored by the Missouri Law Enforcement Assistance Council and was conducted by Normand Gomolak, police-juvenile service officer of the MLEAC police- juvenile services subcommittee.

Purpose of the seminar was to make police officers and juvenile court personnel more aware of the needs of juveniles and their problems.

Girl Scout leader training session set

MALDEN--- A leader training session will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Presbyterian Church to prepare for the Cotton Boll Council Girl Scout Roundup.

The training session will be directed by Doris Brown and Ilena Aslin of Sikeston.

The roundup, which will be held at Sweetwater Camp near Malden, will have as its theme "Our Bicentennial", and will involve about 1,500 Cotton Boll Countil Girl Scouts during the first weekend in May.

ADAM AND EVE: pity them: they had no one else to pass the buck to!

Marriages dissolved

NEW MADRID — Dissolution of four marriages was approved and a $1,573 judgment was awarded Tuesday in Circuit Court by Judge William L. Ragland.

The marriage of Jacqueline L. Green and Charles J. Green of Sikeston was dissolved. Mrs. Green received custody of two children and $30 per week per child for their support. Green was granted visitation rights.

Barbara J. Copeland of Point Pleasant was granted custody of five children when her marriage to Kelley DeWayne Copeland was dissolved.

The marriage of Martha Fern Rhodes and H. G. Rhodes of Lilbourn was dissolved. Mrs. Rhodes was granted custody of two children and $100 per month for each child for support. She was also awarded $500 per month for her support and maintenance until the youngest child reaches 18 years of age, at which time her support payments shall be reduced to $350 per month.

The marriage of Theresa Anne Harris and Hubert Monroe Harris Jr. of New Madrid was dissolved, and Mrs. Harris was granted custody of one child, $100 per month for child support and $100 per month alimony.

Joseph Harris Co. was awarded $1,573.03 judgment against Clement Cravens.

Truck owners to get refunds

JEFFERSON CITY— Cash refunds for overpayments on licenses will be made by the Missouri Department of Revenue to about 2,000 owners of 6,000 and 12,000 pound trucks, Russ Sloan, director of the Division of Motor Vehicle and Licensing, said today.

The refunds, ranging from $10 to $20 will be sent to truck owners who applied by mail to Jefferson City and who received shorter registrations than ordered.

The revenue department estimates that it will take four to six weeks to process all the refund checks.

"Refunds are due because the vehicle owners were issued licenses for a shorter period than ordered. The issurance of licenses for a shorter period was necessitated by an overwhelming demand for the longer month plate exhausting the stock and creating the need to substitute the shorter month plate," Sloan said.

"One- year licenses eventually will be issued for 6,000 and 12,000 pound trucks when the required amount of time has elapsed for the same staggered registration system already used for private automobiles to take effect," Sloan said.

Today in U.S. history

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Feb. 27, the 58th day of 1974. There are 307 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1900, the British defeated the Boers in the battle of Paardeberg in Africa. The outcome was the creation of the Union of South Africa.

In 1594, Henry IV was crowned king of France at Chartres.

In 1807, the American poet, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, was born in Portland, Maine.

In 1889, a railroad was opened in Burma from Rangoon to Mandalay.

In 1933, the German parliament building, the Reichstag in Berlin, was burned.

Allocation deficiencies acknowledged by FEO

WASHINGTON (AP)— The Federal Energy Office today acknowledged serious deficiencies in its crude oil allocation program and announced several major changes intended to increase oil imports into the United States.

Deputy FEO Administrator John Sawhill told members of three Senate committees the present program has produced lower incentives for importers and refiners which led in part to a massive, 280,000- gallon shortage of gasoline on the United States' East Coast.

William N. Walker, the FEO's general counsel, outlined three major revisions of the crude allocation program.

—"An immediate stimulus to crude oil imports by amending the current program to allow additional quantities of crude, over and above the amounts estimated to be available this quarter to be imported without being allocated away to another refiner."

—Preferential allocation to small refiners with the capacity of less than 75,000 barrels a day. They would receive allocations to raise supplies to 1972 levels subject to reductions across the board only when the nation's total supplies fall below those levels.

—Creation of a so-called "neutral zone" for independent refiners producing between 75,000 and 175,000 barrels per day.

"They would not be required to allocate crude and they would be eligible to receive allocated crude only on the basis of increased crude oil acquisitions from outside the allocation process," Walker said.

—Establishing a "fixed allocation obligation" for all refiners with over a 175,000 barrel per day capacity.

Sawhill told a joint session of the Senate's Commerce, Interior and Government Operations committees that the present program has produced serious problems which include major oil companies being forced to allocate certain oil to other major firms, their direct competition.

Walker said he believes the FEO's new actions "may well be subject to serious legal challenge."

Because of that, he said FEO will ask Congress to amend the existing law and to do so promptly.

Meanwhile, the House was moving toward a showdown on the emergency energy bill which President Nixon already has said he plans to veto.

The measure is slated to be brought up on the floor today under a parliamentary rule leaving it open to a procedural challenge from any member, House leaders said Tuesday. But before debate on the bill begins, Democrats will attempt to amend the rule so that such points of order cannot be raised, the leaders said.

The maneuvering is expected to settle the

the petitions to Rep. C. F. Cline, a Democrat from Sikeston. Cline said he and a co- sponsor, Rep Fred Copeland, a New Madrid Democrat introduced the bill after receiving the petition and an avalanche of letters from the students.

Cline said today he doesn't know if there is enough time to get the bill through the House and to the Senate during this session, which ends April 30.

He said the bill is at the bottom of a calendar of 300 bills.

"Whether or not this bill ever passes the House is not that important," Cline said. "What is important is that children have become involved in the legislative process. It has been educational for them and, I am sure, more clearly shows them how state government works than a textbook explanation might."

Cline presented the students at Lee Hunter Elementary School a copy of a resolution Friday, which had been passed by the House of Representatives commending them for their interest in state government.

Farmer should tell distributor of needs

NEW MADRID— "The essential thing a farmer must do to help assure himself adequate fuel for agricultural production is tell his distributor how much he needs. Unless a local distributor or dealer knows what his farm customers require," said Larry Blunt, executive director of the New Madrid County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, "that distributor can not take the necessary steps to get enough fuel for them."

Informing the distributor becomes even more important, if a farmer intends to increase his acreage considerably, or if he wants to expand dairy, poultry, or other farm operations. Local dealers will need this information to request additional fuel from their suppliers.

Blunt said, "agricultural producers who are all to receive priority allocations will be required to certify to an ongoing fuel conservation program on their operations. USDA, in cooperation with the Federal Energy Office and the Environmental Protection Agency, has developed a conservation leaflet. This leaflet, scheduled to be available in early March, includes an energy management certification that there is an ongoing conservation program and that priority fuel will be used for 'Agricultural Production'."

legislative fate of the bill, which includes a provision for an oil price rollback.

Unless the parliamentary rule is amended, an oil- state representative almost certainly will object to the price rollback provision on the ground that it was inserted in the bill by a Senate- House conference and never has been voted upon by the full House.

Most observers agree that Speaker Carl Albert would be forced to sustain such an objection and the bill would be effectively killed.

The Senate- passed measure also would provide the President authority to order gasoline rationing and other mandatory fuel saving measures, but Nixon said at his televised press conference Monday night that he would veto the measure "if it reaches my desk in its present form."

Nixon said the bill's rollback provision, while "immediately popular," would lead to further shortages "which would require, without question, rationing all over the country."

Nixon also said at his press conference that the energy crisis has passed, although a "serious problem" still remains. That comment drew a rebuke Tuesday from Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield who said, "The shortage remains, and so does the crisis."

large connecting water mains. The plan also would provide a complete sanitary sewer collection and disposal system.

Sadler said the plan would be expensive, costing $1,084,000. With the present approximate 50 per cent matching grant, the highest cost to citizens would a $2.75 per $100 valuation.

Buddy Waters of Waters and Associates, engineers of Sikeston, told the group that for the first five years the rates would be expensive, but would decrease with additional users.

Alternatives to the new proposed sewer system explained by Sadler were that the city could wait and make no decision at the present time or could negotiate for consolidation with Sikeston.

Miner residents at the meeting indicated they do not want the town to stagnate, but want to progress by pursuing some program to expand the water system and install a sewer system.

A majority of the 40 persons present were not in favor of consolidating with Sikeston. Mayor L. F. Wheeler said today he wished more people had attended the meeting. Miner has about 700 residents.

Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP) — Farm commodity futures prices were strong again on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

On the opening, delayed 15 minutes because of out-trades, wheat was 5 to 10 cents a bushel higher, March 6.25; corn was 1 to 5 higher, March 3.29; oats were 1 to 2 higher, March 1.72¼ and soybeans were 6 lower to 11 higher, March 6.56.

SHS cagers go down battling

CAPE GIRARDEAU — There wasn't a lot of spirit in the warmup. Some handclapping and yells of encouragement, but not a lot. There was a grim, determined look on the faces of the Sikeston basketball players, but the people occupying the half- filled gymnasium didn't notice until midway of the first period. By the time the game was over, Sikeston's Bulldogs had lost as expected -- but not really as expected. SHS led by a point with a minute to go, before dropping a 52-50 decision to heavily- favored Cape Central.

By now the Cape Girardeau people should have learned. When Sikeston's coach N. P. McDaniel says season records "don't mean a thing," he means it. Even after last year's stunning 70-67 upset of Cape by the Bulldogs, the Tiger faithful weren't so faithful, as just a handful showed up for the game. They were slightly outnumbered by the good- sized (considering Sikeston's record and the 30- mile trip) Bulldog followers who were almost witnesses to history repeating itself.

The coach had mentioned after last Friday's 77-53 loss to the Bengals that he was going to have a controlled, disciplined, co-operating offense Tuesday night, even if he had to replace some folks. Well two starters rode the bench most of the game, although Vangalee West did prove to be a very effective reserve, and the only question Sikeston fans are likely to ask now is "What took so long?"

"The boys showed courage and character," the coach commented after the game. Sikeston, with only one man over six feet tall most of the night, fought a five- inch per man height disadvantage to push Cape Central to the brink before falling to the Tigers on three late free throws, a fluke tip-in and a goal - tending call that never came. The missed goal- tending call and a disputed backcourt violation did something the highly- touted Tigers had proved unable to do -- beat the Bulldogs.

Sikeston 5- foot- 11½ floor leader Roy Bowman played one of his best games of the year. Bowman scored 24 points to lead all scorers, grabbed ten rebounds for the top Bulldog effort on the boards and held 6-foot-6 Owen Suggs way below his performance of the past Friday until late foul trouble made him give Suggs some leeway.

Bowman was joined on the boards by sophomore Mark Eaves who also enjoyed a fine night, scoring his highest point total, a dozen, and grabbing eight rebounds.

On the other hand, the two big men for Cape were just that - big. Six - foot- 9 Stan "Stretch" Ray muscled his way inside to grab 19 of Cape's 30 rebounds and his 21 points matched the output of Suggs. The inability to completely halt the duo undoubtedly hurt SHS, as the rest of the team combined to hit just three of sixteen shots and scored ten points.

The controlled offense worked to perfection for Sikeston. A few early missed shots and turnovers by the nervous Bulldogs gave Cape an early six-nothing lead, but the Bulldogs. led by Bowman and Ronald Marks, settled down, tied the score and then went ahead at 11-8. The Sikeston crowd shreiked its delight. The Orange side simply gazed, unbelieving.

By the quarter's end the Tigers had narrowed the margin to one, 13-12, but they were visibly shook and Sikeston seemed to control the tempo of the game. The Bulldogs were shooting well and playing good defense, and the good defensive effort was a first for the entire season. The floating zone defense and the man- to- man were working to perfection for Sikeston. The Tigers, who have little movement to their offense, and seem to rely on length - of - the- court fastbreak passes for offense seemed to be stymied. Then a couple of Bulldog turnovers cost them some points and Cape regained the lead. By halftime they held a narrow 25-24 margin.

Words of inspiration evidently flowed from Central coach Dan Milligan's mouth at halftime and the Tigers came out for the second half tipoff ready to play ball. They outscored Sikeston in the first part of the quarter 10-1 to bulge the lead to 35-25, then added another fieldgoal to their margin by the period's end.

Trailing by a dozen 43-31 entering the last frame the Bulldogs were in the same spot they had occupied a year previously. The late rally which they again put on this time fell a bit short, although a 17-4 splurge during the frame did enable them to grab the lead for the first time in the second half at 48-47. With 1:06 remaining the Dogs tried to stall the ball but were called fora back court violation in a heavily- disputed call at least by those on the Sikeston side, and the Bulldogs fouled Suggs who put Central ahead to stay.

After some wild floor- length dashes and missed shots, Cape seemed to be in the driver's seat with a 52-50 lead, two seconds showing on the clock and a man at the free throw lane. However, even though Bill Seabaugh hit his first charity toss, a technicality about the placing of players during the shot cost Cape the ball and gave the Bulldogs a last chance. A pass inbounds was relayed toward Bowman, who was surprisingly open under the basket. But the buzzer sounded while the ball was in the air and Sikeston's "Mister Clutch" never got to get the shot off.

The loss dropped Sikeston's record to a final 7-14. Cape advances to the tournament's second round Thursday night against Poplar Bluff with a record of 21-4.

It was a long season for coach Mac and his boys. Much was expected of them and they disappointed some people with lethargic defensive play and selfish shooting, with little co-operation or teamwork. However, the different personnel against Cape showed that the coach's techniques will work, you just have to have someone willing to put them to use. Once again a Sikeston team has peaked at regional time. Unfortunately, the Bulldogs fell just a whisker short. It's a real shame the season couldn't last one more week.

CLEVELAND— The Cleveland Browns traded defensive back Ben Davis to the Detroit Lions for a future draft choice in a National Football League deal.

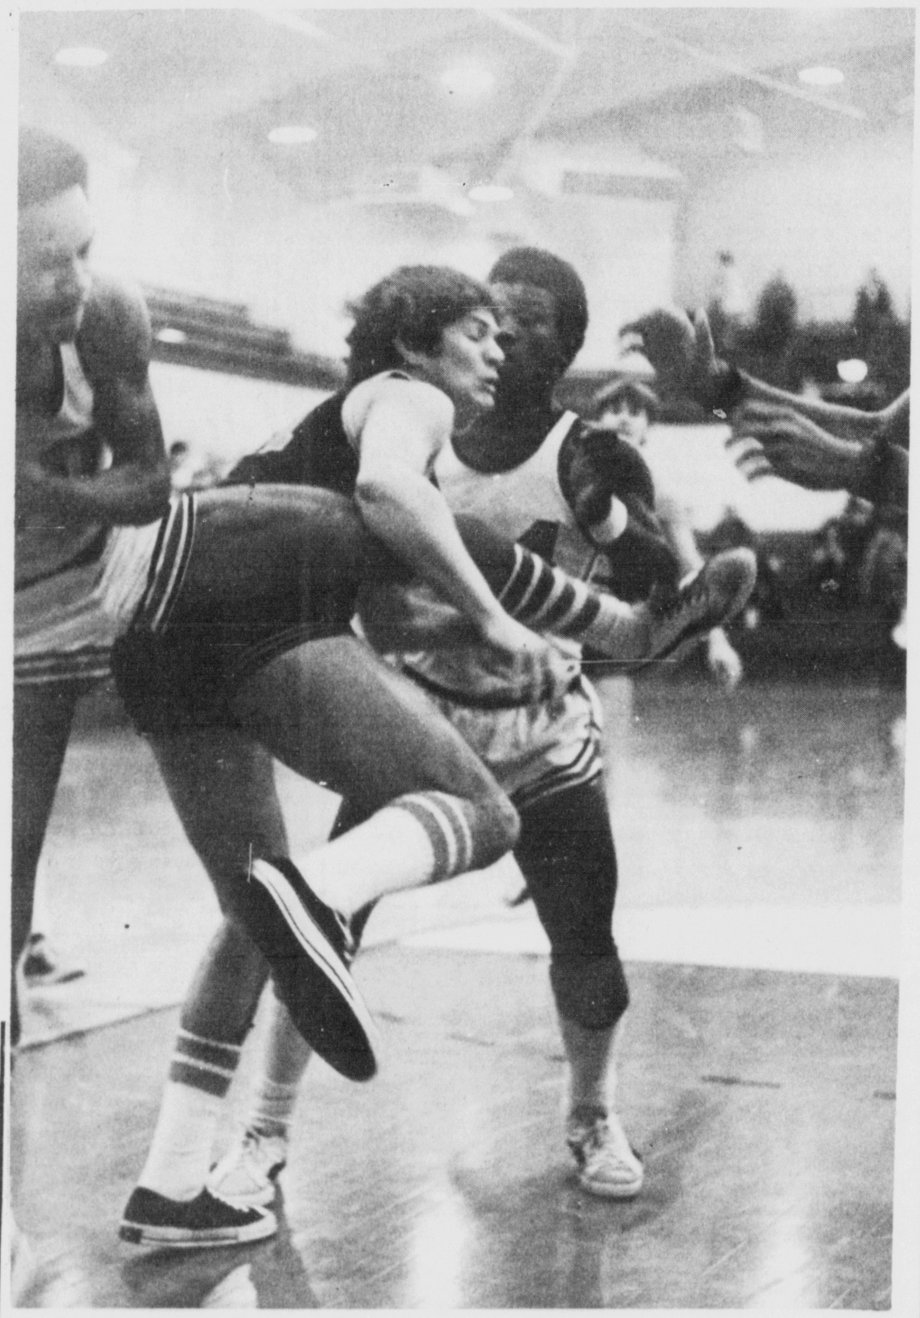
Basketball clinic at SeMo St.

CAPE GIRARDEAU-- About 40- 50 students from four southeast Missouri high schools are expected to attend a women's basketball clinic and tournament Saturday (March 2) at Southeast Missouri State University.

High schools represented will be Doniphan, Hayti, Dexter and Bloomfield, according to Miss Margaret Mates, instructor of physical education at Southeast Missouri State.

The clinic, which will cover fundamentals, is a project of the Women's Recreation Association and students in the women's basketball officiating and team sports courses, Miss Mates said.

It will be conducted in Parker Physical Education Building with registration at 9 a.m.



Sikeston high school's Ron Marks (white uniform) gets his leg pulled during class AAAA regional tournament action at Cape Girardeau Tuesday night. The Bulldogs dropped a 52-50 battle to the highly favored Bengals.

Cards use new cage

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals' spring training camp swelled to 30 players Tuesday as Jay Johnstone, former Oakland Athletic outfielder, and rookie infielder Stan Papi reported a day ahead of today's deadline for non-pitchers and catchers.

The full Cardinal roster of 40 players is expected to be in camp today.

Meanwhile, unseasonably cold weather drove most St. Louis players into the National League club's new indoor batting cage, and right hander Scipio Spinks was one of those taking his turn on the indoor mound sheltered from the 40- degree temperatures.

Spinks, who is trying a comeback from injuries of the last two years, slipped to 1-5 last season following his 1972 knee surgery, but then missed the last four months of play due to an inflamed shoulder.

Pitching coach Barney Schultz reported that the hurler was coming along fine.

"Spinks' knee is fine," Schultz said. "He hasn't complained about a thing."

Bing Devine, Cardinal general manager, expressed great pleasure with the club's $25,000, double-covered batting cage.

"It pays for itself on days like this," he said. "It is even equipped with lights for dark days. Hurlers are able to pitch and batters able to hit, even during inclement weather."

Johnstone hit .107 in 23 games with the A's last season and has played with both the California Angels and the Chicago White sox of the American League.

Papi, acquired in mid-season last year from the Houston Astros in exchange for Ray Busse, hit .266 with the Cardin's Tulsa farm club before being sidelined with a broken hand.

Coach Larry Warren was a happy fella Monday night after his Lilbourn Panthers moved him within three games of a life long dream. The former Parma Pirate cager, who played in four regional finals while in high school, needs only a victory tonight at Cape Girardeau to take his team to Columbia for the weekend finals.

Warren seeks state finals

CAPE GIRARDEAU--- Lilbourn high school coach, Larry Warren, is within one victory of a life long ambition as a prep coach and that faces him and his Panther cagers here tonight at Houck field house as they battle St. Pius X of Festus for the right to advance to this weekends class AA state tournament finals in Columbia. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

That desire was built by Warren during his prep days at Parma, a long time basketball power in New Madrid county.

Even as a junior high athlete, Warren would often comment about his desires of state tournament competition, and that desire is even stronger today as he takes his team against the 17-10 Lancers.

Inspiring that desire was his prep coach, Doyle Denbow, a well known prep star from Morehouse who coached Warren through junior high and high school and often reminised about his state tournament experiences while at MHS. Denbow is now in the administrative field at Ironton and was among the spectators Monday night as his "boy" claimed his first victory in the state event.

"I hope Larry will make it," a enthused former coach Denbow noted. "You know, we nearly made the state bracket in 1963 when we lost by one point to Arbyrd and were always in the finals." Denbow finally took his 1966 PHS team to the state and then retired from coaching. "I am proud of my "Boy" and I wish him the best of luck," Denbow said.

The LHS Panthers will be taking their 27-2 record into the quarter finals of the class AA state tournament against St. Pius X of Festus.

The Lancers of coach Ralph Boyer have beaten such AAAA teams as North West of House Springs and Fox of Arnold during the season. St. Pius X has lost to such powerhouses from St. Louis as Cleveland and CBC.

The Lancers are not too big as far as height is concerned as the center, Steve Scheer is 6-4. Alvin Riney is a 6-2 forward. Earl Magre is 6-2 at the other forward. Steve Kassen is a 5-10 guard and Terry Werner is the other guard at 6-0.

The Lancers are not a high scoring team and play a basic man to man defense.

Lilbourn likes to run and plays a pressing man to man defense. The Panthers of coach Larry Warren have three of the most outstanding shooters in class AA anywhere in the state in Claude McFerren, Ernest McFerren, and Frankie Robinson with Robinson being the most productive of the three. Frankie, a lanky 6-1 sophomore, has tremendous jumping ability and also has the ability to get the shot off in a hurry while on the move. He is also one of the leading rebounders on the team to put him in the position as the Panthers most valuable man.

Inside the Panthers have 6-4 Edward Farr, who averages 13 points a game and can go up for the rebounds. Carl Meadows is the other forward who at 6-2 can jump with anyone and has an inside scoring touch as his 13 points per game indicates.

The Panthers possess the best man to man defense in the southeast Missouri area as both McFerrens and Robinson possess great quickness and fine ball handling.

NCAA invitations

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Barring phone difficulties, nine schools will be invited on Thursday, 9:30 a.m., local time, to play in the NCAA basketball tournament.

Again, barring phone difficulties, by 9:31 nine teams most liely will have accepted.

"We tell the schools they have 30 minutes to accept or decline," said a NCAA spokesman from its Kansas City headquarters. "But I can't remember anyone declining. Our main obstacle is the phone company."

The expansion syndrome has hit college basketball's postseason tournaments. Where there were two major post-season college basketball tourneys last year with 25 open spots, now there are three and 33.

The Collegiate Commissioner's Association tournament has joined the National Invitational Tournament and the NCAA in the post-season grab bag for basketball talent, but it's still the prestigious NCAA Tournament which gets first crack.

Dr. Tom Scott, Davidson College Athletic Director, and chairman of the Division One Basketball Tournament Committee of the NCAA, meets with the other five committee members today by conference call hook-up to pick the tournament's nine at-large teams.

The chosen nine, when added to the representatives from the 16 major conferences, complete the NCAA's 25-team field.

Later in the day, the NIT, which will play its finals in New York's Madison Square Garden March 23, will start making its selections.

The CCA has agreements with eight conferences to send a representative other than its champion to the tourney in St. Louis, scheduled for March 14, 15, 17 and 18. These teams, those second-place teams that are eligible, won't be known until conference champions from the Big Eight, Big Ten, Missouri Valley, Western Athletic, Mid-American, Pacific 8, Southeastern, Southern and Southwest are decided.

The spokesman said approximately 20 teams were in the running for NCAA at-large bids:

In the East: Boston College, Maryland-Eastern Shore, Massachusetts, Pitt, Providence, Rutgers, St. John's, N.Y., South Carolina, and Syracuse; in the Mideast: Cincinnati, Dayton, Detroit, Marquette, Marshall, Notre Dame, South Alabama and Southern Illinois; in the Midwest: Houston, Creighton and Oral Roberts, and in the West, Hawaii.

Theoretically the nine bids all could go to teams in one region.

After the at-large berths are filled, the pairings for the March 9 first-round games will be made Thursday by picking the school names out of a hat.

In the West, two at-large selections will be paired against the winner of the Western Athletic Conference and Pacific Coast Athletic Association champion. The games will be played at Idaho State.

In the Midwest, two at-large teams will play each other and a third meets the Southwest Conference champion. The site of the games is North Texas State University.

In the Mideast, two at-large choices will play the winner of the Ohio Valley Conference and the winner of the Mid-American Conference. Indiana State will host these games.

In the East, three at-large teams will meet the champions of the Ivy League, the Middle Atlantic Conference and the Southern Conference. Three sites will be selected for the games. St. John's of New York, the Palestra in Philadelphia, Princeton University, West Virginia University and William & Mary all are in the running.

The winners in the first round advance to the regionals, all scheduled for March 14 and 16.

North Carolina State, currently ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press poll, will be host to the Eastern Regionals at Raleigh; the University of Alabama will be host to the Mideast Regionals at Tuscaloosa; the Midwest Regionals will be at Oral Roberts University in Tulsa, Okla., and the Western Regionals will be at the University of Arizona, Tucson.

The four regional champions then move on to Greensboro, N.C. for semifinal games March 23 between East and West, and Mideast and Midwest.

The championship and third place games will be played in Greensboro March 25.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Feb. 15, 1974

Dear Mr. & Mrs. Beardsley,

My Valentine's Day was very happy because Cookie arrived the day before. We were expecting her on the 14th and it was really a surprise when she came a day early. I was a little worried about everything because I was afraid that no one would be here at the farm when the Clark's arrived — and that's what happened. They had called and said they'd be here sometime in the morning, but I work from 8-6:30 and my brother has been doing hay off our farm leaving our farm very vacant. My brother waited until noon for Cookie and then had to leave. The Clark's arrived a little after 1 p.m. and called my 2nd cousin's wife in town and she met them. So at 6:45 p.m. I walk in our house and there's Cookie sleeping on the bed. Everyone was pleasantly surprised and everyone is just "beaming" — Cookie too. She's glad to be home and carries on like she's never been gone. I guess that's the marvelous thing about dogs, they always remember "home" and the "master". She's sleeping with my nephew now. I know you all are extremely fond of Cookie and I wish you could have seen her carry on when she arrived. She was jumping all around saying hello to everyone and then went scamping off with the farm dogs down the pasture. There are 3 dogs here besides Cookie; 2 pet bulldogs and a German Shepherd. She's really a sight in compairson with those 3 big dogs but they never hurt her.

Mrs. Bone wrote and would like a picture so why don't I send ya'll one too? The first chance I get I'll have a picture taken of our whole crew; my brother and his kids, myself and Cookie, the other dogs and maybe my girlfriend and her little girl too. That might be awhile but I'll do it, just be patient.

Thank you all so much and perhaps someday I'll be through Sikeston and let you see Cookie jump around with joy for yourself. I've got a feeling that that is just what she'd do at seeing you.

With Love,
David

Dear Sir:

Women of Missouri, don't let Women's Lib put one over on you, as they did in Maine, Montana, and Ohio this year. The recent passage of the Equal Rights Amendment in those states was accomplished almost entirely the the Women's Lib Movement. They pressured the State Legislators, and waged a frantic campaign for passage, using the enticements of equal pay for equal work, and better jobs for women, to lure unsuspecting women into supporting it.

The ERA does not guarantee Equal Pay, but following are some of the very radical and undesirable results which will occur if ERA becomes an amendment to our Constitution.

1. ERA will require that a wife be held legally responsible, equally with the husband, for the finanical support of the family.

2. ERA will make women subject to the Draft, if the Draft is resumed, and women will serve in all kinds of units, including combat.

3. ERA will wipe out the right of a mother to keep her children in case of divorce.

4. ERA will wipe out protections women now have from dangerous and unpleasant jobs.

5. ERA will wipe out the right to privacy.

There are many other disadvantages also.

Is this what YOU thought the ERA was all about? ERA will plunge us into a redical social and political order, and will lead to Government control of our children.

Don't let Women's Lib speak for you. They are waging a total attack on the home, the family and marriage. The hour is late, but we can still fight them and win!

Did you know that 15 of the states which hastily ratified the ERA are now trying to rid themselves of it?

So, if you do not want the ERA passed in your state, you had better begin working now for it's defeat. Don't let Women's Lib get ahead of you! You can inform others of the dangers of ERA, and inform your area State Legislators of our opinions.

For more information, and literature, please write to me at Rt. 1 Box 10-A, Hobe Sound, Fla. 33455

Thank you very much.
Sincerely,
Mrs. Marie Bound

To the Editor:

I would like to ask you if you would read over this and see if it is good enough to be put in your next edition of the Daily Standard? If so it would help the time and paper I used writing it. I one certain person would read I would like to think that is all I need to help my feeling over my dog. I've asked around and let other people read this to see if its was good enought to be in the Standard, most said yes. But maybe they were prejudice.

Thank you for your time and patience,
Larry Keller

ONE SPECIAL DOG

I always liked dogs and most they like me. I had a dog that I would like to tell you about.

I love dogs especially this one. He was the biggest prettiest Labrador Retriever I had.

He pointed rabbits and even trailed them, but he had one major weakness, he was gun shy. I don't really know how old he was, but he came to us about four years ago. This was a special dog so, I taught him a few tricks he liked to do. Everbody always liked him. Sometimes at night he would chase people. He wouldn't really harm anybody, but, at the time they didn't no that.

Now the reason I wrote this.

I went to school that morning and instead of coming straight home. I went to a friend's house.

I called from there and my dad said that "Biggin" was dead. He had been hit by a truck. The veterinarian said he might have lived but he never would have been the same dog I loved for so long. So he was put to sleep. I never saw him but what I was told was enough. Only his back was damaged. He would have lost all of his hide from his neck to his back. We don't know who did it but, who ever did must have been insane. It takes no guts to hit a dog and just let him go and die. Maybe he thought he would make it home, but there is that chance he wouldn't.

We know that it had to be a truck, Because a car sits to low to damage only his back.

As far as I'm concern letting a dog die like that is like murdering your own son or daughter.

Just maybe this has taught that CERTAIN PERSON that it would only take five or ten minutes of his so precious time to knock on a door and see if anybody knows who the dog belongs to. He may even try taking him to the vet himself. I hope this will help sometime if you hit a dog. Just think about what you would want done if it was your own dog.

The End

SIKESTON, MO., STANDARD: "It's incredible. The butchers claim they're not making any money. The wholesalers claim they are not making any money. The meat packers say they are not making any money. The ranchers also say they are not making any money. So who's making the money? Sometimes we get the uneasy feeling that somewhere there are cows buying mutual funds and gold stocks!"

Attention: News Editor

Dear Sir;

Being a native of Sikeston the attached article from your paper which appeared in our local news paper "The Camarillo Daily News, Camarillo, California", caught my attention.

Though your problem sounds serious in Missouri, I can assure you it is just as serious in California. By the time the rancher has fatted the cow, then herded it to California, the butcher butchers, the meat packer packs, the wholesaler sells for retail, then comes my turn to purchase. It is not the cow but I who must own "mutual funds and gold stocks" in order to purchase even a piece of this cow. In fact it's more like trying to purchase the "Original Golden Calf." of the Bible.

Sincere sympathy,

Marston man bound over to Circuit under $3,000 bond

NEW MADRID — Lester A. Lynn, alias Billy Joe Redden, of Marston was bound over to Circuit Court under $3,000 bond for trial on a charge of possession of stolen property following a preliminary hearing Friday before Magistrate Judge Leo Hedgepeth.

Lynn, is accused of having in his possession on Jan. 31, a 1972 two- door automobile, which had been reported stolen on Dec. 29, 1973 in Davidson County, Tenn.

James Michael Hall waived preliminary hearing on a felonious stealing charge and was bound over to Circuit Court under $500 bond. He is accused with two other youths of stealing a 40- horsepower outboard motor, gas tanks and a lawn mower from Carl Parks on Jan. 27.

John Floyd Fraysher charged with driving while intoxicated and driving on the wrong side of the road was fined $150. He was given a six- months suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for one year.

James Lesley Rogers was fined $125, given six months suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for one year when he pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated. David LaFayette Wheatley received the same punishment and his driver's license was suspended for one year after he pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated.

Calvin Wayne Horton, charged with possession of less than 35 grams of marijuana and careless and imprudent driving by speeding, was fined $80, given six- months suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for six months.

Dennis Wolfe pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of less than 35 grams of marijuana and was fined $75, given six- months in jail and six months probation. Wolfe, who had been released on probation Friday on an earlier charge of possession of less than 35 grams of marijuana, was committed to jail.

Jeffery Miles Baldwin was fined $115 on a speeding charge and was given 60- days suspended jail sentence and placed on probation for 60 days. He was charged with driving 98 miles per hour in a 70 mile per hour zone.

Others fined on speeding charges were Harold J. Uthoff, $35; Connie Baker, $26; Larry Blades, $20; Michael A. Garrard, $28; LeRoy Manseill Jr. forfeited $35 bond; Patricia Ann Walters, $34; Dolan Ray Uthoff, $25; Ricky Lee Bunch, $32; and Raymond Paul Radford, $30.

Tom James Collins was fined $65 on charge of driving while his license is under suspension, and Garner Lee Muse paid the same amount on charge of driving while his license is under revocation.

Jessie Burlison paid $50 fine on public intoxication charge.

Charged with illegal use of expired dealer license and no operator's license, Harold Shelby was fined $30.

Connie Ray Riddle paid $30 fine on improper parking charge and Wesley George Smith was assessed $25 fine on similar charge. Richard Lee Farr paid $25 fine on careless and imprudent driving charge.

Fined $20 each were Willie Lee Shoffner, careless and imprudent driving; Barbara S. Cagle, improper registration; Everett Paul Gardner, no operator's license; Maurice Von Manning, failure to display inspection sticker; Lutesville Pallet Co., defective brakes; Home Oil Co. failure to stop at railroad crossing; and Marian Ann Bowen, no operator license.

Jesse James Obryan was fined $125, given six months in jail and placed on probation for one year when he pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated. Charles Edward Williams was fined $65 for driving while his license is under revocation.

Cedric Williams was fined $50 on public intoxication charge, sentenced to 60 days in jail and placed on probation.

Charged with failure to drive on the right side of the highway, Percy Thompson was fined $25.

Crestline Finance Corp. of Dexter dismissed with prejudice a suit on note filed against Charles Tom Proffer.

ORDER FOR PUBLICATION
OF NOTICE

Circuit Court for the County of Scott State of Missouri

Norma Jean Choate) Plaintiff) vs.
James Lee Choate) Defendant)

No. 7923

ORDER FOR PUBLICATION
OF NOTICE

On this 11th day of February, 1974, it appearing from the verified application of plaintiff for an order allowing service by publication that defendant

JAMES LEE CHOATE

cannot be personally served within this state, it is ordered that the application of plaintiff be granted and that service by publication upon said defendant be had as provided by law and that said defendant be and is hereby notified that an action has been commenced against said defendant in the circuit court for the County of Scott, State of Missouri, the object and general nature of which is an amended Petition for Divorce.

And that said defendant be and is hereby further notified that the name and address of the attorney for plaintiff is Bernard C. Rice of the Law firm of Blanton, Blanton, Rice and Sickal and that said defendant is required to apperar and defend this action within 45 days after the 15th day of February, 1974, and in case of failure so to do judgment by default will be rendered against said defendant.

And it is further ordered that a copy hereof be published according to law in the Daily Sikeston Standard, Sikeston, Missouri, a newspaper of general circulation printed and published in the County of Scott, State of Missouri.

A true copy from the record.

Witness my hand and the seal of the circuit court this 11th day of February, 1974.

Seminar held

A question and answer seminar on cyst nematode control in soybeans was held Tuesday at Smitten- Winters Equipment Co. on Highway 61 South. Area farmers were invited to the meeting to discuss chemical control of the cyst nematode with Carl Bobo, left, of Dexter, a representative of Shell Chemical Co. which produces several agricultural chemicals. Bobo demonstrates the use of various chemicals in Smitten- Winters applicators—to, from left: Richard D. Mills of Matthews, Frank Altom Jr. of Sikeston Route One, Harold Depro and Don Schuchart of Sikeston; Wilford Watson Jr. of Catron Route One; and Lloyd Winters of Sikeston.

Big K net income is up 9%

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Kuhn's Big K Stores Corp., which operates 84 discount department and variety stores in the Mid-South region, has reported record sales and earnings for 1973, with net income up nine per cent.

John W. Kuhn, president of the seven- state retail chain, said sales for the year which ended Dec. 31 were $127,840,156, a 33 per cent increase over the $95,947,982 reported for 1972.

Net income for 1973 reached an all-time high of $2,961,400, or $1.71 per share of common stock, compared with $2,708,655, or $1.56 per common share for the prior year.

"These results are an excellent reflection of the strength of the company in its market area," Kuhn said, "and we are certainly pleased at the attainment of new records in the areas of sales, earnings and expansion. It is a tribute to our management team, and to our retail professionals at the store level, that the company successfully met its continuing goal of profitable growth, and achieved it in a year of increased costs, government controls and generally unstable economic conditions."

Kuhn said the company looks forward to the year ahead as one of "increased profitability, particularly from the 27 new Big K stores opened during the past two years, as they come of age in sales and earning power in their respective markets.

"Management also anticipates a positive effect on operations during the current year from the recent easing of government price controls on the retail industry." Kuhn continued, "as well as from the continuation of our expansion program into carefully selected, profitable new areas."

Kuhn's - Big K operates 57 Big K discount department stores and 27 Kuhn's Variety stores in Tennessee, Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi and Missouri (including a Big K in Sikeston, Mo.).

A record 14 Big K's were opened during 1973, and the company has announced plans for opening an additional 14 Big K's this year and early in 1975. Among the outlets scheduled to open this year is a Big K in Bedford, Ind., which will represent the company's entry into its eighth state.

The company's stock is listed on the American Stock Exchange.

Did any of you see the Mike Douglas show last month when he had Dr. Atkins, Adele Davis, Dr. Stillman, and the lady that's the head of Weight Watchers on? Well, it was the most informative and fascinating t.v. show I've seen in years! It seems that Mike Douglas had lost 40 pounds on Dr. Atkins diet and at the same time eaten away like a farm hand and he was wildly enthusiastic about the whole thing; so much so, that he had these three other leaders of diets on his show with Atkins and let them all argue and debate why their diets were the best. Well, Stillman and the W. W. lady acted like fools and screamed and ranted, but Atkins and Adelle just sat and listened and then very calmly told about their program. Adele Davis said Atkins diet was the same that had been used in hospitals years before insulin in the treatment of diabetics, and then went on to tell what a fine program it was and how far down it will also drop high blood pressure and cholesterol. Now, when you see all the cream, eggs, fat and butter you may have on this you'll think "impossible", but, I tried the diet before passing it on to you, and believe you me, I'm like Mike Douglas, it ain't impossible, it's just great!! All you do is cut out your carbohydrates (this is not the Air Force or drinking man's diet), eat all day, all you want, but just eliminate a few unhealthy items. I went on this diet last Fri., lost 6 pounds in 5 days and every bit came right off my "anchor", a spot which has never dwindled away before, and I didn't have to go hungry or do one exercise, and what is more is that I haven't had this much energy or felt this good since the day I was born!! The book can be gotten here in paperback form and the name is "Dr. Atkin's Diet Revolution", also pick up a carbohydrate gram counter and you're in business. DO NOT turn to the diet page and menus & try to figure out from there, there's no hurry — turn to page 1 and read the entire book! It's interesting and in very simple words explains the entire diet as well as the reasons why it works and why you can eat constantly and still stand on the scales the next day and lose a pound. DO NOT CHEAT, you're just hurting yourself, buy your vitamins and use them and the Ketostix are fun to get and see the lovely results with. Try one and get no color and then three days later who says purple isn't your favorite color. Anyway, I am absolutely wild over this diet and am so crazy thankful to Dr. Atkins I'd run off with him if it wasn't for the fact that I was so fond of ole Charlie (besides, who'd get him dressed in the morning), and I sincerely believe that no one needs to be fat or bulgy anymore if they'll just listen and do what this charming gentleman tells them. Hey, if you balk at the price of the vitamins, don't, it would cost you that much for a visit to your doctor to be put on a diet so just look at it that way. Am now looking forward to seeing only slim ladies in a couple of weeks — don't let me down!

COOKING-UP

By WANDA ATCHLEY

Can today's young brides cook as well as their mothers? Those of us who have tasted foods prepared by 23- year- old Nancy Cooper of Dexter are inclined to say yes.

Mrs. Cooper represents the typical young housewife of today, who cares for a home and family as well as holding down a full- time job. After working all day as a secretary, she must be able to prepare a quick wholesome meal for her husband Larry who puts in a rather strenuous day in concrete construction.

After all this, she still finds time for her favorite hobbies of sewing and locating and refinishing antiques.

Nancy and Larry, who will celebrate their second wedding anniversary next month, are in the process of building a new home near Aquilla on which they plan to do most of the work themselves.

"I leaned to cook in my early teens," Mrs. Cooper said, "Not because I had to, but because I simply enjoyed cooking."

Here are some of Nancy's favorite recipes, which she says are real time savers after a day on the job.

SPANISH DELIGHT

1½-2 lbs. ground beef
1 Medium onion
½ Green pepper
1 Tbsp. chili powder
1 can corn
1 15-oz. can tomato sauce
1 pkg. mozzarella cheese

Brown ground beef in skillet with onion and green pepper. Salt and pepper to taste. Drain any excess grease.

Add chili powder, corn and tomato sauce. Simmer about 15 minutes.

Alternate layers of mixture and strips of mozzarella cheese into baking dish. Put into 350-degree oven until cheese is thoroughly melted.

This recipe can be made and refrigerated the day before using.

QUICK KIDNEY BEAN SALAD

2 cans (1 pound each) kidney beans
3 hard boiled eggs
½ onion
¼ cup chopped sweet pickles
4 slices bacon
Salad dressing.

Fry bacon crisp and drain. Drain beans. Combine with next four ingredients. Add enough salad dressing to hold ingredients.

ORANGE CHICKEN BAKE

2½ to 3 lb. cut up chicken
1 slightly beaten egg
¼ cup orange juice
½ cup crushed crackers
¼ cup bread crumbs
½ tsp. paprika
Shredded orange peel from one orange
3 tbsp. butter

Dip chicken pieces into mixture of egg and orange juice, then into mixture of crackers, bread crumbs, paprika, peel and one half teaspoon of salt.

Melt butter in large, shallow, baking pan in 400 degree oven. Remove pan from oven.

MOCHA DESSERT

1 3-or 3¼ ounce package vanilla pudding
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. instant coffee
½ cup semisweet chocolate pieces
Flaked coconut
Maraschino cherries

Prepare pudding according to label directions and add vanilla. Divide in half. To one half, add the instant coffee and chocolate pieces; stir to dissolve.

Spoon the pudding into sherbets, alternating layers. Trim with coconut. Top with maraschino cherry if desired. Chill thoroughly.

PINEAPPLE UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE

½ cup brown sugar
3 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 can (about 1 lb.) pineapple slices
Maraschino cherries
2 cups flour
3 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
¼ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 tsp. vanilla
¾ cup milk

Set oven for moderate, 350 degrees. Sprinkle brown sugar in bottom of well- greased pan, 9 x 9 x 2 inches. Dot with butter. Melt mixture over low heat.

Drain pineapple; place slices in pan with cherry in center of each.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream shortening. Add sugar gradually and beat until fluffy. Add egg and vanilla; beat well. Add flour mixture , a little at a time, alternatiely with milk. Pour batter over fruit.

Bake one hour or until light brown. Turn upside down on serving plate at once.

Desserts can be easy

Breaded frying chops

Quick to cook:
6 center-cut thin pork chops, about 1¼ pounds
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
Salt and pepper to taste
Large egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons (about) butter or margarine

Cut any fat away from around chops. In a shallow dish stir together the crumbs, poultry seasoning and salt and pepper; dip chops in mixture, then dip in egg and again in crumbs. In a large skillet in the hot butter fry chops over moderate heat until brown on both sides and cooked through. Makes 3 servings — 2 chops per portion.

After measuring several suits of armor, etc., a major encyclopedia has come to the conclusion that some medieval men were tall, while others were short.

Stretch food dollar with baked lasagna

Looking for an economical meal to serve the family? Try lasagna!

Baked lasagna is one of those good stick-to-the-ribs meals that goes a long way toward stretching food dollars. There are many different recipes to choose from, and the nice thing about it, there's usually enough left over to serve another dav.

BAKED LASAGNA

1 pound lasagna noodles, large
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 pound ground beef
1 tablespoon cooking oil
2 teaspoons marjoram
2 teaspoons oregano
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1 cup tomato paste
1 cup cottage cheese, ricotta
1 pound mozzarella cheese
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Oil noodles with olive oil before placing in boiling water. Cook, then drain. Cook beef in cooking oil, add spices, salt, sugar, parsley and tomato paste. Line bottom of casserole with noodles. Add layer of ground beef, cottage or ricotta cheese. Place six slices of mozzarella cheese next. Add noodles and repeat.

Cover and bake in 350 degree oven for 35 minutes. Makes 10-12 servings.

Modern Swiss steak is easy

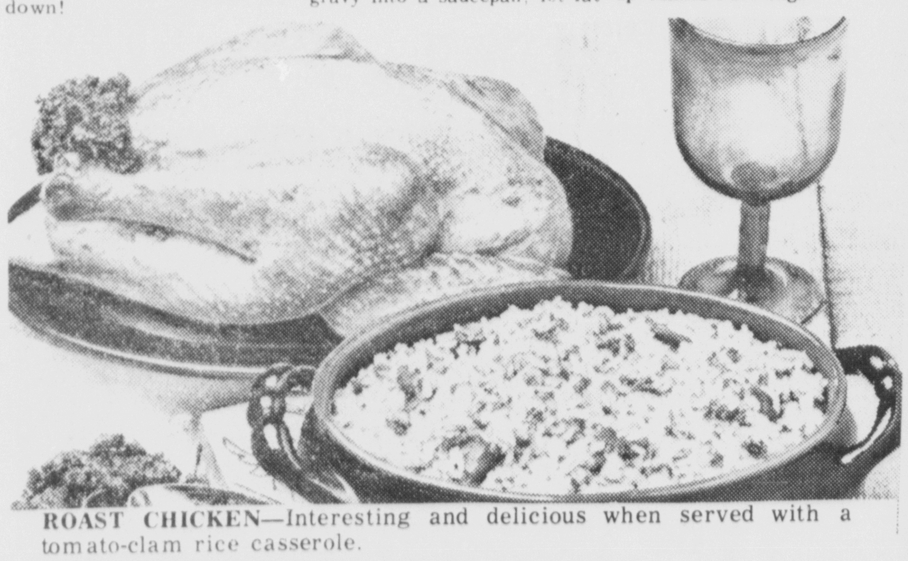
You bake this in cooking bag or wrap.
2 1/2 to 3 pounds bottom round beef steak, cut 1 1/2 inches thick
1/3 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup shortening
4 small onions, cut in thin strips (1 cup)
1 can (1 pound) stewed tomatoes

Cut meat into 6 portions trimming away fat. Mix together the flour, salt and pepper and pound into meat. In a 12-inch skillet heat 2 tablespoons of the shortening; add onions and brown; place onions in cooking film bag or wrap, closing one end if using wrap. Place in a baking pan (about 13 by 9 by 2 inches). Add remaining 2 tablespoons shortening to skillet and brown meat; place in bag. Pour off any fat in skillet. Pour tomatoes into skillet and over low heat stir to get up drippings; pour over meat and onions. Fasten and vent bag or wrap according to package directions. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until meat is tender — 1 1/2 hours. Remove meat to serving platter and keep warm in a low oven. Pour gravy into a saucepan; let fat settle, then skim off. If gravy is thicker than you like, add enough water to thin: reheat and pour over meat. Makes 6 servings.

Pimiento potatoes

They're made in a skillet and are brown and crisp on the bottom.
1 1/2 pounds potatoes
1 1/2 tablespoons finely grated onion, pulp and juice
1 jar (4 ounces) pimiento, drained and diced
1/2 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste
6 tablespoons butter

Cook potatoes in their jackets in boiling salted water; remove skins and chill; grate coarsely. Toss with onion, pimiento, 1/2 teaspoon salt and pepper. In a 10-inch skillet, over moderate heat, melt butter. Add potato mixture, pressing down well with a wide spatula. Cook without stirring until well browned on underside — about 20 minutes. Cut into pie-shape wedges and serve, brown side up. Makes 6 servings.



ROAST CHICKEN—Interesting and delicious when served with a tomato-clam rice casserole.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

As Mediterranean cooks know, chicken is especially delicious when given a rice-and-seafood partner. With this in mind, a friend of ours evolved a recipe for serving roast chicken with a casserole of tomato-clam rice and passed along the recipe to us. Because this is an oven-style main course, the cook has time to spend the predinner hour with her family or company.

The chicken is marinated in Italian dressing before roasting and as a result has excellent flavor and color. The dressing we used in testing is made from oil, vinegar, salt, sugar, garlic, spices and lemon juice and comes in an 8-ounce bottle. A little of the dressing also goes into the rice combination. Don't expect strong seafood flavor in the casserole — the clams add only a delicate undertone.

ROAST CHICKEN WITH RICE CASSEROLE

3 to 3½ pound roasting chicken
¼ cup bottled real Italian dressing
Rice Casserole, see below

Rinse chicken and dry. Place in transparent plastic bag. Pour dressing over chicken in bag. Close bag with twist tie and rotate bag so that dressing coats chicken well. Place bagged chicken in a dish and refrigerate for several hours, rotating bag several times to coat chicken with dressing. When ready to roast, remove chicken from bag, discarding marinade. Skewer neck skin, if there is enough to do so, to back; tie legs together; fold wings back akimbo fashion. Line a small shallow pan with foil; grease foil. Place chicken on one side in pan. Roast in a 375-degree oven until tender and browned — 1½ to 1¾ hours — turning chicken on other side midway. Bake Rice Casserole, covered, along with chicken during last hour of roasting — if at end of this hour liquid in casserole is not absorbed bake casserole a little longer while chicken is "resting" before carving. Carve chicken and serve with Rice Casserole.

Makes 6 servings.

RICE CASSEROLE

1 cup converted-type rice
16-ounce can tomatoes, undrained
10½-ounce can minced clams, undrained
¼ cup bottled real Italian dressing

In a 6-to 7-cup casserole stir together the rice, tomatoes (snip with scissors if in large pieces), clams and dressing. Bake as directed above in recipe for Roast Chicken with Rice Casserole.
